

Swedish Count Asks for Hanson Jewels

The "Swedish count in Chicago" none other than L. L. Mullin? And who gets the jewels? These are problems that the superior court must decide in the latest episode concerning the Hanson gems.

A. P. Hanson, a race track follower, and his wife, May V. Hanson, recently fought it out before Judge A. F. St. Sure for the possession of jewels valued at $1000. Mrs. Hanson won. Hanson told the court that the gems had been given him by a Swedish count in Chicago.

Now comes Mullin, who asserts that the jewels consist of heirlooms in his family and that he pledged the articles to Hanson for a loan of $300. He asks a restraining order to prevent Mrs. Hanson from disposing of them.

One Killed, Three Hurt in L. A. Crash

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24. — Fernando Bersik, of Pasadena, was killed; Paul Walborg and F. G. Finucane, of Los Angeles and Pasadena, each received a fracture of the skull and of a leg, and J. C. Calhoun, a recent arrival from Kentucky, had a leg broken and was hurt internally early today when Bersik's automobile struck an emergency repair street car here. At the receiving hospital surgeons said Walborg would probably die, while the others had a fair chance for recovery.

FISCAL SYSTEM OF BRITAIN HELD SOUND

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE
LONDON, Thursday, Oct. 23. — Opposition to any change in fiscal policies of Great Britain and a plea for careful consideration of the situation before the country, were expressed in the house of lords today by Viscount Milner, secretary of state for colonies, who replied to criticisms of the government by Lord Buckmaster who introduced a resolution calling attention to the "gravity of the financial position" and suggesting the necessity for the imposition of additional taxes.

"I deprecate panicky views regarding the country's financial position," said Viscount Milner. "The position, though grave, is far less serious than that in any other great country with the possible exception of the United States and Japan. It certainly does not justify any rash changes in the fiscal system. Irreparable mischief might be done to the recovery of trade and industry by recourse to such an expedient as a general capital levy which has been proposed by Lord Buckmaster."

"There have been a number of adverse circumstances, such as the delay in arranging the terms of peace, troubles in Afghanistan and Egypt, which have prevented the curtailing of expenditures," he continued. "The proper way is to regard this year's deficit as part of the war burden. It is quite certain we shall receive several hundred millions next year from the liquidation of war assets. The amounts recoverable from foreign countries and Germany are certainly speculative, but it would be preposterous to suppose that foreign countries are going to default in their obligations. Such an assumption would be an insult to our great allies."

Naval Activity in Adriatic Increases

ROME, Tuesday, Oct. 21.—(By Associated Press.)—A lively movement of allied war craft stationed in Adriatic ports is in progress. The United States torpedo boat Foote, which has been stationed here, left this evening for Spalato. Similar movements of British and French war craft are occurring.

The Associated Press correspondent was informed today by an American naval commander that the movement probably was connected with the Plume situation.

Transport Thomas Smashes Into Wall

HONOLULU, Thursday, Oct. 23 (By the Associated Press.)—The U. S. Army transport Thomas smashed into the concrete retaining wall while docking here today from San Francisco. An inspection showed the vessel to be undamaged, but a thorough examination will be made before the journey to Siberia is continued. The Thomas has several hundred American soldiers aboard. They are being sent to Siberia as replacement troops for the American Siberian expeditionary force.

ACCUSED BOY BANDIT DUE HERE TODAY

Warren Hall, second of the accused boy bandits charged with having robbed the First National Bank of Emeryville and with having robbed a messenger for the Anglo-California Bank of San Francisco, will arrive from Los Angeles this evening in custody of Police Officer J. C. Christopher.

Robbery charges will be placed against Hall and Clifford Jackson, the boy now in the Oakland city prison and who, Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen says, has confessed to both crimes.

The youths will be booked together, according to Petersen, when Hall arrives. Warrants have been issued for both, charging the Emeryville robbery. Jackson has been positively identified by bank attaches as one of the bandits, in addition to having made a complete statement to Petersen.

Hall, according to word from Los Angeles, steadfastly denies any connection with the robberies. He will face bank attaches who will be asked whether they can identify him, immediately on his arrival in Oakland.

Jackson, who is 19 years old, and the son of an Oakland painter, and Hall, 18 years old, a taxi cab driver, are accused of having robbed the Emeryville bank of $9000, holding up the women clerks in the institution and locking a male visitor into a vault. They are also charged with the Anglo-California bank messenger robbery. According to Jackson they spent the proceeds of the robberies in Los Angeles. Jackson was "broke" when he returned to Oakland Wednesday to be arrested by Christopher, who had trailed the pair for several months. The boys will be arraigned in police court tomorrow morning, according to the present plans of Captain Petersen.

While the police throughout the West were on the lookout for the boy bandit duo, young Jackson underwent an operation for appendicitis in a hospital at Los Angeles. On his recovery a dispute arose between patient and the attending physician. Jackson refused to pay the bill, according to information received by Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen today, and was sued. The suit went through the Los Angeles superior court, with not the slightest secrecy as to who the defendant was. Judgment for $1000 was granted the physician against Jackson. The judgment was paid by the spoils of Jackson's share of the two bold daylight robberies in the bank district.

Jackson did not engage in any "high life" orgies, but did make his share in other ways. He did not make the acquaintance of girl acquaintances, as he was opposed to mingling with the gentler sex, fearing they would "give him away."

Jackson might have some of his share of the money, in the opinion of the local police. An investigation is being conducted to determine how he disposed of the rest of the money while in the bank district.

According to Captain Petersen, Jackson's confession was obtained partly through the fact Hall incurred Jackson's displeasure when he married Betty Alexander, a local dancer, whose parents reside in San Francisco.

The Women's Athletic association at Stanford has made out a tentative schedule for hockey games this quarter, consisting of interclass games, games with neighboring schools, and a big game with the University of California about December 6.

ROME, Oct. 24 (By the Associated Press.)—Baron Romano Azevedo, who some time ago was selected to relieve Count Macchi Di Cellere as Italian ambassador to the United States, will hasten his departure for America because of the death of Count Di Cellere, even though the health of the new ambassador is not the best at present. Tonight he was in conference with Premier Nitti on Italian-American relations.

WILSON APPEALS TO COAL MINERS

The message, the secretary hoped to bring from the President. PROPOSAL REJECTED BY BOTH SIDES.

Operators and miners rejected the proposal by Secretary Wilson that they negotiate a new wage agreement calculated to avert the strike. The operators would not accept because the miners refused to withdraw the strike order, and Secretary Wilson then came forward with still another proposal for settlement on which both sides immediately went to work.

This provided for a straight increase of 15 cents a ton for pick mining, with an increase in the same ratio for machines and other classes of labor. The proposal also provided that there should be an eight-hour day "from bank to bank" and a half holiday on Saturday, the agreement to be effective November 1 and to continue until March 31, 1922.

Both sides rejected the new wage proposal. Secretary Wilson then pleaded with leaders not to break not to return at 4 o'clock, stating that meanwhile he would get in touch with the White House. The meeting was held together while the two groups discussed separately what course they would take.

LEWIS SAYS OUTLOOK IS LESS HOPEFUL

Coming out of the meeting John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, said: "The outlook is less hopeful than last night. We are returning to hear what the President and the second of the spoils of Jackson's share of the two bold daylight robberies in the bank district."

The miners and operators still occupy the same position as last night. Secretary Wilson had made a suggestion as a new basis of settlement, which was rejected, the operators refusing to accept and the miners saying that while it was a suggestion they were willing to consider it.

Wilson outlined the terms of his proposition as follows: "That the pick mining price be advanced in the bank district."

"That machine mining, yardage, deadweight and dry wages be advanced in the same ratio."

"That the day work shall be eight hours, and the night work be ten hours."

"That there shall be a Saturday half holiday."

"That with these changes the existing agreement continues in effect until March 31, 1922."

"That while the legal termination of the war will not take place until some unknown time in the future, the increase in the cost of living is an existing fact, therefore these changes will go into effect as of November 1, 1919."

Wilson refused to express an opinion as to the hope of averting the strike through mediation. He was plainly worried and hurried away to consult other officials before proceeding to the White House. Some members of the miners' group said the "blow up" had about come and that they expected to start for home tonight.

Secretary Wilson went to the White House shortly after 3 o'clock and conferred with Secretary Tumulty. After nearly an hour's conference with Tumulty, Secretary Wilson left the White House. He said he had no statement to make and declined to answer questions as to whether Tumulty was to lay the situation before the president.

OPPOSE CHANGE IN RAIL RATES IN THE SOUTH

Final decision of the United States Railroad Administration on the proposed change in railroad rates to Oakland and other coast points via New Orleans is anxiously awaited by railroad officials who have protested against the proposed change. The chief protest is made by President Paul Shoup of the Southern Pacific and Seth Mann, representing the traffic department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

The change in rates would make westbound travel from eastern states not bordering on the Atlantic more expensive by the southern route than by Ogden. The administration has contended that rates should be based exclusively upon mileage, but the protestants point out that the ruling will materially reduce the number of trains available for westbound traffic and cut such traffic to a minimum during the coming winter.

Santa Fe, Rock Island and Salt Lake routes are longer than that via Ogden, and Mann exclaims against the move. He says the move is a raising of rates over those lines. Because of scenic, climatic and other influences on travel Mann declared that mileage considerations could not be exclusively followed. A further inconsistency alleged by both Mann and Shoup was that eastbound rates to the south by way of Chicago are as low as by way of New Orleans.

The letters of protest and a continuance of the existing rates.

CURIOSITY FAILS TO CLEAR CLIENT

"Billy" Hynes, former district attorney, says he won't be so curious about evidence in police court cases in the future. Hynes, who has been charged with a robbery charge, and Hynes' close questioning of witnesses, and Inspector Frank Rossick, instead of helping Hynes, only brought out these facts:

There are "cooties" in the city jail. The police have "other" dope on Caesar.

Hynes objected, as the examination of Hynes, accused "gas station bandit," seemed a close to Inspector Rossick using his notebook to refresh his memory. Hynes demanded to see the book, and noted that a crime was dated "6 a. m." on it. "But the crime, Hynes, is accused of happened at 8 in the evening," Rossick said.

"Surprised," said Rossick, "you see Hynes, Hynes, Hynes, Hynes, Hynes, we may accuse him of."

When witnesses identified Hynes, Hynes wanted definite information as to "what the defendant did."

"He scratched his head," said Harry Cohen, the identifying witness.

"Strike it out," said Judge Mortimer Smith. "That's an insult to our city jail."

Hynes was arrested by Policeman C. H. G. Garza, who shot Otto Hynes at the same time, and later died of wounds inflicted by the latter. Hynes and McMahon are said by the police to have held up various oil stations in Oakland.

Cable Companies to Charge Registry Fee

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—The cable companies today announced a change of arrangements in registering cable addresses, effective November 1, whereby a charge of $2.50 will be assessed for registering all cable addresses in the United States.

This fee, it is explained, is charged in order that many use addresses that encumber the records may be eliminated.

All code addresses now in effect will lapse on November 1. Only one fee of $2.50 will be charged on the company receiving the fee will provide the other cable company with a duplicate registration.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arsenic apply it at night when retiring; use enough moisture the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arsenic at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

Mouse Starts Downtown Panic Police Quiet Screaming Girls

Traffic stopped, feminine screams, the air, Sergeant John Fahy and his reserves came out of the traffic offices of the police department to the rescue, and pandemonium reigned along Fifteenth street before the City Hall today—all because of one little mouse.

The mouse was originally in a dentist's office in the Datzel building, according to the investigations of Fahy, and the dentist, reaching into an instrument case, grabbed it by the tail. Mouse started to climb up his own tail to bite the dentist—who quickly threw him out of the window.

Below, on the street, was an auto full of girls. Mouse sailed through the air describing a wigglesome parabola, and landed squarely in the lap of the fair driver.

Then came screams, the auto wavered and came to a stop, and the girls rose as one, screaming, to the top of the machine.

Then came Sergeant Fahy, promised to find and shoot the mouse—which in the meantime had escaped—and finally feminine fears were quieted and traffic resumed. Fahy won't tell the name of the dentist or the girls in the machine. No arrests.

Boy Struck by Auto Unconscious 28 Days

DAYTON, Oct. 24.—John C. Rambo, Jr., struck by an automobile, lay unconscious in a local hospital for twenty-eight days. Regaining consciousness and in a weakened condition, the boy whispered that he wanted "the biggest meal that could prepare." He is recovering.

Below, on the street, was an auto full of girls. Mouse sailed through the air describing a wigglesome parabola, and landed squarely in the lap of the fair driver.

Then came screams, the auto wavered and came to a stop, and the girls rose as one, screaming, to the top of the machine.

Then came Sergeant Fahy, promised to find and shoot the mouse—which in the meantime had escaped—and finally feminine fears were quieted and traffic resumed. Fahy won't tell the name of the dentist or the girls in the machine. No arrests.

The change in rates would make westbound travel from eastern states not bordering on the Atlantic more expensive by the southern route than by Ogden. The administration has contended that rates should be based exclusively upon mileage, but the protestants point out that the ruling will materially reduce the number of trains available for westbound traffic and cut such traffic to a minimum during the coming winter.

Santa Fe, Rock Island and Salt Lake routes are longer than that via Ogden, and Mann exclaims against the move. He says the move is a raising of rates over those lines. Because of scenic, climatic and other influences on travel Mann declared that mileage considerations could not be exclusively followed. A further inconsistency alleged by both Mann and Shoup was that eastbound rates to the south by way of Chicago are as low as by way of New Orleans.

The letters of protest and a continuance of the existing rates.

Stuffy with Cold RELIEF WITHOUT QUININE

Don't stay stuffy-up! Quit blowing and sniffing! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks up a severe cold and ends all gripe misery.

The very first dose opens your clogged-up nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

"Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, no quinine.—Advertisement.

On Sunday afternoon, October 19, Mrs. Frank McAdoo gave a tea at her home, No. 857 Forty-fifth street, to announce the engagement of her niece, Mercedes Thelma Hill to Harry O. Antonio Jr.

The house was prettily decorated with autumn leaves, chrysanthemums and ferns. On the table, which was decorated with pink roses and ferns were little placards at each place announcing the betrothal. A very dainty repast was served to the many young ladies present.

Miss Hill's marriage will take place the 12th of November at Third Baptist church.

Mrs. F. Ellis Miller, assistant secretary of the Oakland club has been enjoying the past week at Del Monte with her niece, Mercedes Thelma Hill. They are en route to Los Angeles and San Diego and are expected to return north soon.

Civic League

Pays Tribute to Miss Laughlin

By EDNA B. KINARD.

When Miss Gail Laughlin, within the week, tendered her resignation as president of California Civic League, there was consternation in the ranks of the civic workers of the state. That the resignation was immediately and eloquently refused, and that Miss Laughlin accepted the edict of her club sisters, prophecies well for the future of the important organization. The resignation of Miss Laughlin was prompted by the fact that she is leaving the state for a period of some four or five months.

But the board of directors would have none of it. As leader of the National Association of Professional and Business Women, Miss Laughlin is on the eve of departure on a continental tour in the interests of that new and vastly important mobilization of women who participate actively in the world's work. Miss Laughlin occupies a unique place among the women of California. Miss Laughlin goes to Los Angeles next week. A special program has been arranged in Ebbell clubhouse in that city for Wednesday night, at which she will be featured as a speaker on behalf of the community property law, of which she is a sponsor, and which is being operated against by a referendum. From the southern part of the state she will start on her continental tour.

In Miss Laughlin's absence from California, her office as president of the California Civic League will be taken over by Mrs. Albert E. Carter, first vice-president.

An adopted son has come home to the members of the Durant Parent-Teacher Association. He is a war veteran, one Sergeant Christian E. Petersen. It was early in the war days that the association members appointed themselves the collective mother of the young chap and filled the mails with enough sweets and comforts to take care of forty soldiers.

Petersen was born on the Danish border, but proved a good American with Uncle Sam's forces. The mothers will get their first good look at their son on Tuesday afternoon. The Durant association is making him the guest of honor at the reception at which they will be hostess in the school auditorium.

Sergeant Petersen will tell his foster parents of the things which impressed him most overseas.

Hallowe'en features will contribute to the Hard Time dance which the club is sponsoring for Friday night, October 31.

On behalf of the women who have served as army nurses, the Associated Alumnae of Vassar College, San Francisco branch, has undertaken to organize for a definite campaign directed toward obtaining for them military rank. Miss Ethel Moore is chairman of the Large body with Miss Katherine Whitton of Berkeley, the secretary. Among the local members are Mrs. W. A. Anderson, Miss Augusta Briggs, Mrs. J. Franklin, Daniel, Mrs. Ludwig Demeter, Mrs. Oscar E. Derby, Mrs. W. S. Farley, Mrs. W. H. Hamm, Miss Nellie Ireland, Miss Mary Gaines, Miss Ruth Gaines, Mrs. L. L. Norton, Miss Helen Peckham, Mrs. Ramsey Probasco, Miss Marion Ransom, Mrs. Edith L. Stephens, Mrs. Frank J. Symmes, Dr. Hope Traver, Mrs. W. R. Thorsen, Miss Ruth Valentine, Mrs. James L. Whitney, Miss Emma R. Wellman, Mrs. Frederick Whitton, Mrs. Howard Wright, Miss Jean Wright.

California Civic League, at its regular meeting, adopted a resolution endorsing relative military rank for army nurses.

When $25 roll into a treasury as the result of a community dance, it is proof positive that the hostesses know something of the art of entertainment. Sequoia Parent-Teacher Association members were the hostesses who made this record Friday evening, October 18.

Oakland chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, whose membership never drops below its full limit, has decided this season to make the headquarters of its monthly meetings in the Young Women's Christian Association building. Heretofore, hostesses have thrown open their homes and divided among the members the responsibilities of entertaining. Making of the association building in Webster street a center for women's activities has appealed to the patriotic women, who have put aside precedent to try out the new way.

BURGLAR WANTS JAZZ MUSIC ONLY

He's a "jazz burglar" whoever he is, and he's in possession of jazz records, phonographs, and other music galore, after having scorned jewels and gold for syncopated harmonization. At least, this is the description given the police of Oakland's very latest in burglars.

The "jazz burglar" doesn't steal gold; he takes your phonograph and records. What his idea is, the police haven't found out yet. Two homes were robbed of their phonographs in last night, according to the police.

Marshall Urges Peace Patriotism Economic Life Needs Evangelist

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Vice-President Thomas Marshall today prepared a written statement on the dissolution of the National Industrial Conference, following the withdrawal of the labor delegates. The statement of the Vice-President follows:

Just so long as capital and labor stand and glare at each other, we must expect everlasting turmoil and a nation-wide cataplexy.

The Congress of the United States is a kind of doctor that treats symptoms and doesn't treat disease.

No legislative remedy that I know of can be found to produce peace and quietude and good order unless the manufacturers see something more in business than dividends and look upon the employees as brothers in the republic, and not as cogs in the machine or as numbers on a payroll.

And unless the laboring men have higher incentive to do their work than the mere wage which comes from the doing of it, if they put in their time finding how little they can do and how much more they can get for the doing of it, it is hopeless from their standpoint.

DISCRIMINATION OPPOSED

It is no part of government to boost one man to boot another. It is hopeless if the mad passions of men are to hammer at legislative halls for the final and just settlements. A government of discretion dies.

The only government in business life that can hope to live is a government of love and compassion.

What the economic life of America needs is not a law-giver but an evangelist.

There never will be perfect justice in the world until the lion and the lamb can lie down together, and not as they do now, with the lamb inside of the lion.

BOTH FACTIONS MUST AGREE

Just now we need a body of citizens who are content to do a day's work for a day's wage, who are willing to pay a day's wage for a day's work, who believe more in the common good than in the larger good.

Since the world began, business and wealth have had no such opportunity for the angel of the Lord to write their names down beside that of Abou Ben Adhem as they have had just now.

The trumpet call of conscience is not only to the meek and lowly, but to the high and mighty, and when dividends and wages are measurably forgotten, the love of service for our Christian country, if there is any hope at all, passion, personal preference and personal success must all be put in the background and the capitalists and the laborers must realize that the consumer is also entitled to admission into the brotherhood and business must be conducted and work must be done primarily for the love of promoting a contented and a happy people.

Just so long as capital and labor stand and glare at each other, we must expect everlasting turmoil and a nation-wide cataplexy.

BOTH FACTIONS MUST AGREE

Just now we need a body of citizens who are content to do a day's work for a day's wage, who are willing to pay a day's wage for a day's work, who believe more in the common good than in the larger good.

Since the world began, business and wealth have had no such opportunity for the angel of the Lord to write their names down beside that of Abou Ben Adhem as they have had just now.

The trumpet call of conscience is not only to the meek and lowly, but to the high and mighty, and when dividends and wages are measurably forgotten, the love of service for our Christian country, if there is any hope at all, passion, personal preference and personal success must all be put in the background and the capitalists and the laborers must realize that the consumer is also entitled to admission into the brotherhood and business must be conducted and work must be done primarily for the love of promoting a contented and a happy people.

Auerbach Suspicious of Slide Rule City Engineer Figures Salary Wrong

Mel Auerbach, assistant city engineer, has a slide rule, otherwise known as an "educated stick," that works all manner of fearfully-difficult problems; but he'll never use it to figure up his own wages again.

Auerbach had to put in Sunday working last month, and Commissioner of Streets William J. Baccus, in consideration of the extra work, put in a day's pay for it. Auerbach did the work, then wondered what his day's pay was.

He took his salary, divided it by thirty on the slide rule and put in a bill for the amount. "The bill came today to Baccus for audit."

"Here—you've robbed yourself," remarked the commissioner. "With your salary per month a day's pay is two dollars more than you've charged up here!" and Baccus quickly figured it out on his blotter.

"That's funny," said Auerbach, and tried it on his rule. Baccus was right. Then Auerbach noticed the trouble. There was a minute dent in the slide, and the rule just slid over one division as he set it down.

"This rule slipped and lost him two dollars," says Baccus. "One for the bricklayers' method of figuring;—without one of those sticks."

Anyway, Auerbach is in two dollars.

Talked to Dice and Police Nab 'Em

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 24.—When the pleadings of crap shooters can be heard for two blocks it's time for the police to step in. This, at least, is the way Kansas City patrolmen looked at it early the other morning when they heard calls for "little Joe" and "Phoebe" coming from the upper floors of No. 901 East Eighth street. The patrolmen did "step in" and a party of forty-one negroes, including many women, appeared in South Municipal Court the next morning. The pleadings for "little Joe" and "Phoebe" were reviewed by Judge Fleming, but James Evans, the gamekeeper, drew a fine of $100.

Find Arrow in Skull On Old Battleground

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me., Oct. 24.—Three skeletons, believed to be those of early American settlers, were unearthed here by workmen leveling some land near an old fort. The skeletons were found during the war of 1812. Two apparently were victims of Indian massacres or wars. Embedded in the skull of one of the skeletons was an Indian arrow. The tip of the skull of the second was chipped off cleanly as if done by a tomahawk held in a well-trained hand. The third skeleton was that of a man seven feet tall.

It is believed that the bodies were buried in an old cemetery on this spot and that the graves were covered over by earth thrown up when the fort excavations were being made.

FAMILIES OF CAR LOOTERS FACE ARREST

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Five North Beach families face arrest today as a result of the arrest of nine boys for thefts of merchandise estimated to be worth $8000. The lads range in age from twelve to fourteen years. The families against whom the police say they will seek warrants today are alleged to have received the stolen goods, practically all of which was recovered from their residences.

Several small stores in the same part of the city are said to be similarly involved. The police expected to ask search warrants today to continue their search in these places. The stolen goods included wines, foodstuffs and other articles. The thefts have been going on for the past two months in freight cars as they lay on North Beach sidings. Yard watchmen and railroad detectives tried to capture the thieves, but so expertly was their work conducted that these efforts were vain. Then the matter was turned over to the police.

All the arrests were made yesterday afternoon. The boys are said to have spoken of the people who received their loot as their "customers." One instance is known in which twenty quarts of champagne were stolen and sold at $1 a bottle. The boys have been booked at the juvenile detention home and their families notified.

Dry Law Nips One More 'Wet' Plan Stock Can't Be Traded for Wine

Winery stock sales, that boomed after the announcement of the plan to "distribute assets" in the form of wine, have dropped off again, with the sad news that it won't work; that the man who buys a few shares now can't cash them in for a few gallons of drinks at all; the prohibition law has a way of getting around that.

This is the announcement of U. S. Attorney Frank Silva, who first rendered the opinion that wineries might distribute their wine to their stockholders as assets. Stockholders of record before the "dry law" became effective might be able to claim wine in a distribution of assets, but for purchasers of stock today to obtain wine would be merely "camouflage," Silva says, and it wouldn't be legal. Silva's statement follows: "A report has reached this office that there is a general movement on foot of corporations engaged in the wine business to proceed to sell their capital stock in small quantities and provisionally to those purchasers, and that after such sales are made these corporations will petition the proper Superior courts to have the assets, namely, wine, distributed among the stockholders."

"Such proceedings would not only be a violation of the wartime prohibition act, but would also constitute a conspiracy to violate a law of the United States."

Y. W. C. A. MEETING OPENS TOMORROW

World problems confronting the Young Woman's Christian association during the reconstruction period will be discussed at a three-day conference which opens tomorrow morning in the San Francisco association building, 620 Sutter street. More than 200 delegates will assemble from all parts of California, Nevada, Arizona, and the Hawaiian Islands to be in attendance at this first post-war conference to be held on the Pacific Coast.

Miss Bernice Conde, senior student secretary of the National association, with Miss Harriet Taylor, who had charge of the Y. W. C. A. work in France during the war period, will be the special speakers tomorrow morning. Miss Conde has just completed a tour of the South American republics and will present the problems of the women of those countries. Miss Taylor will review her impressions overseas. Mrs. Lawrence Draper, chairman of the Pacific Coast first committee, will preside as chairman.

War work of the association and a continuation program will be discussed at the afternoon session. The principal speakers will be Miss Grace Southwick, Mrs. Parker Madison and Mrs. E. E. Van Nostrand. Miss Mary I. Bentley, Miss Sue D. Reynolds, Miss Lila M. Sherman, Mrs. Morley Maddox.

Prominent Y. W. C. A. leaders will occupy the podium in the churches about the bay on Sunday. A mass meeting in the ballroom of the Palace hotel has been arranged for Monday night. This session will be open to the public, other conferences having been reserved for delegates. "The American Woman's Legacy From the War" will be the subject of Miss Conde's address. Miss Louise Helms will present "World Stories of America's Living Democracy."

Carranza Threatened by Obregon Majority

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—General Alvaro Obregon, candidate for the presidency of Mexico at the elections next year, has a working majority in the House of Deputies, according to Mexico City advices today, and the movement to withdraw from President Carranza the extraordinary powers granted him has drawn the line definitely between the Obregonistas, some of whom call themselves Futurists, and the Carranzistas, who are supporting the candidacy of General Pablo Gonzalez. The Obregonistas claim 120 votes in the House against 56 definite Carranzistas votes. The attitude of about 30 members is not known, the advices said.

The minority is able to break a quorum by withdrawing from the chamber, which they have done every time a final vote on the withdrawal of power from Carranza has come up.

tion's stock for the purpose of ultimately placing the assets, consisting of the assets of the company, in the hands of bona fide stockholders is a mere camouflage, and such a proceeding will not only not be tolerated by the United States Attorney's office, but prosecutions will follow.

Tuesday or Wednesday will probably see "one-half of one per cent" being the only beer obtainable, according to Justice M. Wardell, collector of customs. Wardell broke this news to the luncheon of the Home Industry League at the Palace hotel, stating that the enforcement act for the wartime prohibition bill would automatically end the reign of "two and three-quarters" brew.

Wardell remarked that he was not very keen for the prohibition laws himself; that they had increased the work of his office to such an extent that his officers were unable to house the employees necessary; that he has more than 350 workers, a vast amount of analytical work to do, and other troubles growing out of the "dry" situation.

Wardell said that war conditions and prohibition meant heavier taxes for years to come.

DE LUXE BU SLINE ASKS SALE RIGHT

Application to the State Railroad commission for permission to sell the property of the De Luxe Transportation company, which launched a stage line venture between Oakland and San Jose, today disclosed a plan, backed by R. Porter Ashe, W. A. Sloan and John C. Scott, representing creditors, to rehabilitate the transportation firm, which was unable, according to the application, to establish a paying business.

The application asks that permission be granted to sell equipment and rights to routes to J. M. Maurer and W. A. Sanford, who have offered $2500 for the property. Ashe, Sloan and Scott, the petitioners, are a committee representing the creditors of the line. Maurer and Sanford have petitioned for an operating permit to grant them the right to operate the De Luxe service between Oakland, San Jose and claim it is still possible to establish a paying business over the route.

The De Luxe service, purchasing several large stages which are practically parlor cars on trucks, started the service some months ago, but finally went into the hands of a creditors' committee.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead!

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money. If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It is harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

SERVICE MEN LINED UP FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Colonel J. K. Ritter has been appointed grand marshal of the "Civics Parade," which is to swing through the streets of Oakland on November 11, as part of the Civic Welcome committee's celebration in honor of the first anniversary of the signing of the armistice with Germany.

Increased interest in the Armistice Day celebration is being manifested among the civic, fraternal and war organizations as the plans for the affair near completion. Yesterday officials of the Young Men's Christian Association announced that a contingent of "Y" secretaries to forty secretaries are expected to participate in the parade according to an estimate made by the Civic Welcome committee.

The American Legion has also decided to take part in the "Civics Parade" and will be represented by 2500 men on the day that Oakland welcomes home its warriors, after their victorious struggle with the enemy. Major William D. Barnes and Henry K. Zinner, both of the American Legion, have been added to the Civic Welcome committee by Chairman Jesse Robinson.

Veterans of the British forces will also march in the parade. A big contingent is expected to march. The program of the Armistice Day celebration includes a "Civics Parade" scheduled for 10 o'clock, a regatta and water sports on Lake Merritt, memorial services at the Metropolitan Memorial Auditorium, a fireworks display on Lake Merritt and a grand ball in the municipal auditorium in the evening.

The registration of former soldiers for the parade is going ahead rapidly. More than 3000 men have signed up already at the Liberty Hut, Fourteenth street and San Pablo avenue. Relatives of the men who lost their lives in the war also are asked to register.

Man Discovers Cause of Falling Hair

Thought It Was Dandruff, But Prof. John H. Austin, Bacteriologist, Hair and Scalp Specialist of Chicago, Showed the Ailment to Be Alopecia Pityrodes.

Prof. Austin, who has had 40 years' experience in conditions of the hair and scalp, says there are about sixty different ailments to which the hair and scalp are subject. For instance, there is the above mentioned common scalp trouble, "Alopecia Pityrodes," which starts with a scaling of the scalp, sometimes slight, called "dandruff," sometimes abundant—producing thick, grayish-white or greasy scales—which lead to falling hair. This stage lasts from two to seven years, as a rule.

At first, when the hair starts to fall, it is hardly noticeable, but as the ailment "Alopecia Pityrodes" becomes more deeply seated and the germs multiply, as they always do, the falling of the hair increases rapidly and in time the top of the head becomes entirely bald. Both men and women of all ages are subject to "Alopecia Pityrodes," but particularly those between the ages of 20 and 35 years.

Then, there are different stages of itching scalp, falling hair, excessively oily hair, dandruff, split hair, dry and brittle hair, and so on.

Prof. Austin says that the use of massage cures, dandruff cures, hair tonics, vasoline and clippers is like taking medicine without knowing what you are trying to cure.

During the past two years at the Owl Drug Stores Prof. Austin has taught hundreds of people how to stop falling hair, grow new hair, remove dandruff and relieve itching scalp.

Prof. Austin has found that only the most powerful microscope can determine the exact trouble with which your hair is afflicted.

Both men and women are invited to take advantage of this Free Microscopic Examination of the Hair and Scalp. Hours 10 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m. daily. The Owl Drug Store, 1044 Washington—Advertisement.

"REDS" IN U.S. NAMED, NOT PROSECUTED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Red agitators in the Gary steel district have gone unprosecuted, although names were supplied to the department of justice several months ago, Lieutenant D. C. Van Buren, a military intelligence officer, told the senate committee investigating the steel strike today.

Names of the so-called red agitators were given to the intelligence officers last May and turned over to the department of justice, according to witnesses.

He told of alleged red activity in connection with the steel strike in the Gary district. No disturbances have been reported since martial law was declared, Van Buren said. Names of agitators were furnished by the chief of police at Gary, Van Buren said.

"Haven't these men been prosecuted?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"Not to my knowledge," Lieutenant Van Buren replied.

"Do you know why not?" Kenyon asked.

PLAN NATION-WIDE STRIKE.—A senator, "the witness" replied, "We had information back in March or April that so-called reds were planning a nation-wide strike, principally for the purpose of freeing political prisoners."

A parade at Gary was scheduled for May 4 in defiance of orders of the mayor, and the chief of police asked General Wood for machine guns, Van Buren said.

"He gave us the names of red leaders who were advocating all sorts and forms of revolution and talking it openly," the witness declared. "We sent these to the war department and they were turned over to the department of justice."

Lieutenant Van Buren read extracts from a booklet seized at Gary. It urged revolution upon all workers in all hands in the name of the "conquering proletariat of Russia."

"All the radicals of the country are centering on the propaganda of Lenin and Trotsky," the witness continued. "I call your attention to the fact that it was printed in Chicago by the Arbeiter Zeitung Publishing company, which is significant."

GOES THROUGH MAIL.—"Is this stuff going through the mails?" Kenyon inquired.

"Oh, yes," Van Buren said.

"Are there any organizations in Gary which support this program?" asked Senator Phipps, Republican, Colorado.

"Yes, I have a list of them," said the witness.

He commenced producing a series of documents, including Russian with names and societies attached.

"How many foreigners are taking part in this strike at Gary?" asked Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee.

"I have not found an American yet," the witness said, "though some of our readers have second naturalization papers."

Here are some of the productions of the union of Russian workers, Lieutenant Van Buren continued. "That's a straight anarchist society. Here's one of them, entitled 'The crimes of God,' an anti-religious pamphlet, discussing war."

Serbia Prepared to Sign Austrian Treaty

PARIS, Oct. 24.—Foreign Minister Trenchard of Serbia, who arrived in Paris yesterday from Belgrade, brought with him authorization from the Serbian government to sign the Austrian peace treaty, says the Petit Parisien today. The signature, however, may be with reservations, the newspaper adds.

Serbia, like Rumania, fails to sign the Austrian treaty because of objections on the part of the Yugoslavs to the clause in the instrument dealing with racial minorities.

Girls Hold School Fete Tomorrow Athletic Events at Mosswood Park

Play day comes tomorrow. Mosswood park will be the setting for a great school fete wherein the girls of the grammar schools will prove their muscle, win their championships and try out their lungs. At 9:30 a. m. the fun begins. At the noon hour club pins will be presented to the young women who have earned them for work during the year by Miss Ruth Findlay, general supervisor of girls' activities in the recreation department. The man or woman who fails to accept the general invitation to an on-looker at the play day party, will miss one of the unique spectacles which Oakland has to offer.

Matched games in baseball, kick-ball, volleyball, handball, liberty ball, netball, with Indian clubs and square relays will give opportunity to the girl athletes to show their skill. Singing and ring games will be demonstrated by the children. Posture tests in marching, standing and neatness will give to the victors a handsome banner.

The Elementary school band under the leadership of Glenn Wood, will lead the march through the judges. Miss Violet Richardson, director of physical education, Berkeley schools; Miss Schumann, Technical high school; and Miss Patterson, University high school, will make the awards.

Playground dramatics will be conducted in the Camp Fire Corner

EASTERN STAR TO AID ORPHANS

SANTA CRUZ, Oct. 24.—Grand officers, who had been rehearsing several days for the event, put on the ritualistic work of the Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at Casa del Rey last night in a most impressive manner. The points of the star were artistically arranged, the color of the point in flowers corresponding to that of the point represented.

The delegates put in most of the day in attending to business matters and acted on important recommendations of the worthy grand matron and worthy grand patron. On recommendation of the worthy grand patron the chapter adopted a plan for the establishment of scholarships for children in the Masonic Orphans' Home at Coyuna. Two scholarships for the university will also be given. That for the girl will be known as the Elizabeth Mary Marshall scholarship in honor of the worthy grand matron, and that for the boy the Darwin Wilson scholarship, named after the worthy grand patron.

The recommendation of the worthy grand patron that the election of the grand conductress and her associate grand conductresses be by ballot was adopted. Heretofore these offices have been appointive. Eighty-five past matrons gathered at a lunch at the sun parlor of the Casino.

Work of the grand chapter will be concluded today and before the session ends the city in which the order will meet next year will be chosen. Both the northern and southern parts of the state are after the convention.

BERKELEY CITY EMPLOYEES GIVEN RAISE

BERKELEY, Oct. 24.—Raises which will aggregate a total increase in salaries amounting to $25,000, were made today by the city council following a boost in pay given earlier in the week to members of the police and fire departments. Employees in various capacities in the street department were the principal beneficiaries this morning in a general increase averaging 50 cents per day. Under the new salary schedule laborers will receive a wage ranging from $2.75 to $5 a day, according to their skill. A varying scale for truck drivers from $115 to $125 also was adopted.

The position of secretary of the Board of Public Works at a salary of $150 a month was created and L. W. Jefferson was named to the position. Other salaries in the street department were raised as follows: Assistant superintendent, $165 to $175; chief deputy, $155 to $175; deputy superintendent, $140 to $150; master mechanic, $160 to $170. In the building department an increase of $10 a month was granted to each employee, with $20 to the assistant electrical inspector, making his salary $156. Other salary raises

U.C. STUDENTS WILL DANCE TO AID UNION FUND

BERKELEY, Oct. 24.—A nickel dance on exclusive "society" way on the University of California campus? Horrors! But it is to be held for a good cause and the university executive committee has granted permission for the dance to be held.

Music will be furnished by college orchestras and the entire proceeds will be added to the Students' Union fund. The exclusive atmosphere of the "row" will be further invaded by booths outside the various houses which will sell ice cream cones and punch. November 15 is the date.

Stricken As He Visits Son in Jail

ALAMEDA, Oct. 24.—George Green, old-time West End resident and expressman, was taken seriously ill at police headquarters this morning when he called at the city prison to see his son, Walter Green, one of the three men accused of stealing copper wire at Corning, Tehama county. The elder Green was carried across the city hall corridor to the emergency hospital and given medical treatment. Later he was removed to his home. His condition is still serious.

are: Poundmaster, $125 to $150; wharfinger, $80 to $100; assistant night watchman, $70 to $80. Funds from which to meet the salary increases are provided the council in the discovery of a surplus approximating $50,000 made by City Auditor Elmer Bell in the bond redemption fund extending from 1906.

HISTORY TEACHING METHOD REVERSED

BERKELEY, Oct. 24.—Announcing that his manner of dealing with the history of French, English and Dutch colonization would prove an innovation to those interested in history, Professor H. E. Bolton of the University of California today undertook to show that the center of European colonization was not primarily in the New England area, but began in the Caribbean region.

Refuting the common impression given by high and grammar school texts, that the New England coast was the scene of the most important colonization, Professor Bolton stated that the island of Barbados had in 1604, the date of the founding of Jamestown, a greater European population than any New England settlement at that time or later.

Commercial expansion and the huge field in South America and the Indies are given as the reasons for the European interest in this section and Bolton says that this interest was first in the European efforts to reach the Indies by sea. Professor Bolton further endeavored to show the large history class the connection between the incidents of the struggle of England, Holland and France against the Spanish by proving the common interest held by the three countries, and he traced their successes to their conclusion and showed the lasting influence left by these countries in the Caribbean area.

Farmers Outline Year's Program Better Living Conditions Planned

BERKELEY, Oct. 24.—With an extensive program planned for their first year's work ranging in scope from price regulation to making farm life more of a pleasure and less of a burden, representatives of county farm bureaus from all parts of the state returned to their homes today after organizing the California Farm Bureau Association at a meeting held yesterday at the University of California.

More than 20,000 agriculturists of the state were represented by 30 delegates who met in Agriculture Hall to federate the work of the county farm bureaus upon a definite program in order to extend the influence and progress of the organization. President W. H. Walker, of Willows, Glenn county, presided at all of the sessions. J. K. Macomber of Tipton, Tulare county, was elected vice president, but the duties of secretary and treasurer of the organization was left vacant.

After four sessions the conference decided upon a definite program for the first year under the leadership of seven regional directors, representing various sections of the state. The Livestock Committee, which will be headed by J. W. Schmitz of Madera, intends to put on a statewide campaign during the winter months for the use of pure bred sires on the farms of California. The plan is to have one month Dairy Month, another Hog Month, another for sheep and another for horses.

The Irrigation and Drainage Committee, under the chairmanship of R. L. Morehead of Sutter county, will attempt to correlate all of the local irrigation projects now under way in the state into a state-wide campaign for a greater irrigation area in California in order to add to the productive part of the state. They will organize a campaign for alkali prevention in order to obviate this threatened menace.

A Marketing Committee, under the chairmanship of J. A. Teagarden of Placer county, will attempt to improve the marketing conditions of the state. They will promote the livestock auction sales, now held in a number of the counties and cause this spread in the price of the same. They have not yet been held. They will also to inaugurate a wool pool among the sheep raisers of California and will maintain an inter-county exchange for the same. SHERIFF ARRIVES FOR PRISONERS

ALAMEDA, Oct. 24.—Sheriff Clifford M. Moller of Tehama county arrived in Alameda this morning to take back to Corning Lee Dagner, Walter Green and William Brakefield, Oakland and Alameda men accused of stealing thirty-seven coils of copper wire from the Northern Light & Power company at Corning. The Alameda police have twenty-eight coils of the wire, weighing about three tons. The wire was found on the Alameda marsh after Dagner had notified the Oakland police that he had brought the stuff here in obedience to instructions from "an Oakland junk dealer," name and address unknown to Dagner.

The three arrested men claim that an Oakland man engaged Dagner and his truck to go to Corning and other points after junk but their stories are incompatible. The police believe that a fourth man in Corning is involved.

Is Lombardi Brain-Struck At Daisy's Pulchritude?

NO! He's just bewildered at her naive philosophy of life. She's new to the city and believes most men are wicked. Therefore, to succeed, she tells Lombardi she's going to be a little bad herself. BERT LYTELL as TITO LOMBARDI and JEAN ACKER as DAISY in a scene from the film version of "Lombardi, Ltd." at the American Theater, commencing Sunday.

American Theater Comedy, "Lombardi, Ltd." Provides Delicious Fun Between Tito and Daisy.

SHE'S A DAISY! This new model of "Lombardi, Ltd." (Jean Ackers) is from the country and believes all "city fellows" are bad. She's read a lot about poor country girls who've become heiresses and duchesses and intresses of millions—and she hopes to become one of those things herself. Therefore, when she meets the boss, Tito Lombardi (Bert Lytell), she decides to sacrifice herself on the altar of ambition. Alas, poor Lombardi doesn't understand—but his worried pose. And after a long laugh session with Bert Lytell and his clever support, American theater patrons will have the opportunity to witness Madame Travers in "Squares of Paris," the second feature of the bill.—Adv.

SEPARATE SCHOOL FOR BLIND URGED

BERKELEY, Oct. 24.—Appeals for a separate school for the blind in the State of California were heard yesterday by members of the Berkeley Center of the California Civic League at a meeting held in Unity hall, presided over by Mrs. I. E. Blochman.

Two of the three speakers of the afternoon were blind, and spoke from the standpoint of a sightless person, while Professor R. S. French, of the department of education at the University of California made his appeal in behalf of the sighted.

That the "coddling" of blind children by parents and pitying friends is the worst thing that can befall them was the declaration of Miss Kate Foley, state library worker for the blind, who urged that the child handicapped by lack of sight be allowed to lead a normal life, playing the same as other children, learning the same studies and receiving the same number of "knocks" in the battle of life. A law making it compulsory for blind children to go to school she urged as one of the biggest needs of the day.

Miss Mathilda Allison, the first blind girl to pass a civil service examination for a position as dictaphone stenographer, exhibited to the women a letter from the State civil service board announcing that blindness would no longer be a handicap in the filling of State positions. Miss Allison at present holds a position at the Naval State Insane Asylum, after passing tests with higher marks than those won by sighted applicants.

That California is lagging behind other States of the Union in providing separate blind schools was the statement of Professor French.

Mother Places Son in Detention Home

The only way to keep her 12-year-old Joseph from being a street urchin, from running away would be to have him lodged in the detention home, decided the mother last night. And this she did. The place complied with Mrs. Cordova's request and placed Joseph in the home until his desires to run away are quenched.

HUTTON RECOVERS

BERKELEY, Oct. 24.—Hughes Hutton, student of the University of California, has fully recovered from his recent serious illness, but will not re-enter college for at least a year. Hutton was a member of the winning freshman baseball team last year and was active in all class affairs on the campus, but was stricken with heart trouble two months ago and was not expected to live.

If you saw it in The TRIBUNE, tell them so. Thank you.

DANCES OVERTAX AGED GYMNASIUM

BERKELEY, Oct. 24.—Violent exercise and modern dancing wreak havoc upon those advanced in years, and Harmon gymnasium on the University of California campus is no exception to the rule.

This aged frame building, which has long been the scene not only of daily exercise on the gymnasium floor, but also of all of the campus formal, has begun to feel the infirmity of old age and is paying the price of too much exercise.

The sophomore hop was the latest of the old hall's excesses, and before attempting further dances, new snows of steel must be added to strengthen it.

Work was begun today adding a number of girders from the balcony to the main gymnasium floor to support the roof.

MRS. COLBERT GAINS 23 POUNDS

Tanlac Helped Her Right From the Start—Had Suffered More Than Five Years

"I've gained twenty-three pounds since I began taking Tanlac, and my former strength has come back to me," said Mrs. Annie Colbert, who resides and works at the Sisters' Hospital, Los Angeles. "Continuing Mrs. Colbert said, 'For the past five or six years I have had more or less trouble with my stomach. I could not eat, and I was losing weight. I was especially affected after eating. Recently this became worse than ever, and I was unable to eat and could not eat at all without it nearly killing me. Everything I ate would sour on my stomach, causing gas and terrible bloating. The gas would press up against my heart until I felt sure I had heart trouble, and my heart would palpitate so bad at times I could almost faint. I also had rheumatism in my knee and ankle, which was terrible. I could not sleep, but would just lie there and roll and toss in misery. I became so nervous that I believe I was unable to do anything but lie in bed. I have gained twenty-three pounds already, so you can see how Tanlac has improved. My rheumatism is lots better and I believe will all be gone soon. I am glad to recommend Tanlac, as I hope it will help someone else who is in the same condition I was as it has me.'"

REVELATIONS of a WIFE

ADELE GARRISON

"When are we going to have another jamboree? I am fairly hungry for a dinner of your ordering. You really ought to do that for a living. Dicky-bird, you do it so well. I am at the same old place and for the next three or four days I'll stay close to the telephone from 3 to 4 every afternoon.

"With all the love there is in the world, and then some, yours till you know what freezes over."

"GRACE," I did not crumple the letter as I had my husband's. My treasured passion had passed, and it seemed beneath my womanly dignity to treat the loathsome thing held in my hand with anything but calm contempt. So, as I finished reading it, I folded it carefully two or three times and laid it on the table near me.

Lillian put out her hand and took it. "I want to read this thing again," she said. "I didn't have a chance to get the right slant on it, I believe."

I watched her curiously as she perused the letter. She studied it, making a most careful study of it, for she reread it several times, and a number of times she stopped and seemed lost in thought at some passage. Once she looked up at me, her eyes plainly puzzled.

"DON'T YOU SEE IT?" "There's something about this I don't understand, Madge. Of course, I'll admit it looks like a letter from Dicky on the face of it, but I can't help fancying there's some explanation for it somewhere."

"I am afraid I don't share your optimism," I replied a bit stiffly. "I don't see any explanation for it, but I read it and I feel as if something else, something which brought down the blood to my cheeks, she lowered her eyes, but the memory of that glance remained. It convicted me somehow of a lack of loyalty to my husband."

For a moment I felt fiercely resentful and all unworthily there flared up in me the old senseless jealousy of Lillian which had been mine in the first years of my marriage.

"Why is she so loyal to Dicky?" I asked myself fiercely. "The moment my spirit was bowed in humiliation about my useless treachery to the woman who had been such a wonderful friend to us both, I felt eager to have her finish the letter that I might see the right with her. Of course, I could never confess the mad moment that had been mine, but I could pretend if I did not really feel a hope that Dicky's responsibility for Grace's letter was less than I had imagined."

As she reached the last page I saw her start, and a look of relief flashed into her eyes. "Well, now I can be forgiven for a gibbering idiot," she ejaculated. "To think that I didn't see through that clever devil before! Lillian in bewilderment. She had jumped to her feet, and was pacing the floor excitedly. "Don't you see it?" she demanded, stopping and facing me, then added presently:

"No, of course you can't." "I know I'm fearfully stupid," I admitted shamefacedly, "but I haven't the slightest idea what you mean."

Lillian drew up a chair and sat down facing me. "I'm not going to tell you what I have discovered about this damnable letter just yet," she said, "for I want you to think it out for yourself. It will be more convincing to you if you analyze the thing step by step."

She paused for a moment while excitedly I pondered her cryptic words. Then she said slowly, impressively:

"Madge, what would Grace Draper rather achieve than anything else in the world?" "I did not need to wait long for my answer. I knew only too well what Grace Draper's dearest wish on earth was."

"Gain Dicky's love," I said sorrowfully. "Undoubtedly," she answered, "but failing that, what next?"

Her words led to a tiny glimmer of light into my puzzled brain. "I suppose she would like to part Dicky and me for ever, wouldn't she?" I asked, looking at her with a quizzical expression. "Yes, she would," she answered, "but I don't think she would do that unless she was sure that she had a better chance of getting Dicky's love than she has now."

"I stared at her for a moment, then I said: 'What a wonderful thing! I had been so sure that she was sure that she had a better chance of getting Dicky's love than she has now.'"

"You're right," she said, "but I don't think she would do that unless she was sure that she had a better chance of getting Dicky's love than she has now."

"I'm sorry I said you were like a lollypop," said Jimmie. Uncle Wiggly smiled and looked over among the bushes where he had shyly thrown a sharp-pointed stick. "Oh, I'm terrible glad if you would help," quacked the duck boy. "I'll," croaked Charlie, "and I'm sorry I said you quacked like a frog."

CINEMA CLOSE-UPS

Every now and then a new figure appears on the cinema horizon and commands the attention of the public. Just now it is Robert Christian Andersen, the clever chap who was unknown to fame before he flashed on the screen as Maudie's Chookoo in Griffith's "Hearts of the World."

It was to Elsinore that Olaf Paulsen, the great Danish tragedian, came every spring to give special performances of "Hamlet," and Andersen, at 26, went on as a "super." Later, when the family moved to Copenhagen, the young man frequented the stage door of His Majesty's theater, and on several occasions appeared in very small parts in support of Esther Neilsen, Anna Larson and Betty Nansen.

IN AMERICA TEN YEARS. About ten years ago he came to America with the view of making his fortune in Western Canada. After several reverses he came to New York, determined to take up the stage as a profession. But his knowledge of the language had not sufficiently advanced for English-speaking roles. Finally he secured an engagement with a vaudeville sketch requiring a Swedish character. Arriving at Los Angeles he was introduced to Marshall Neilan, who was then producing the "Bud and Ham" comedies, and who gave him a chance at small parts in the movies.

He next played unimportant roles at the Griffith studio. Douglas Fairbanks had him next in several pictures, and was so impressed with the young man's talents that he took him to New York and introduced him to some dramatic managers.

GRIFFITH ENGAGES HIM. Andersen was sitting in the office of Morris Gest, waiting for an interview, when David Griffith, on his way to Europe to film "Hearts of the World," happened in. He recognized the young actor, and, finding that he was at liberty, immediately placed him under contract to play in his big picture.

On his return to California he joined the Universal forces, and he has done splendid work there ever since. Some of his biggest successes were scored in "The Heart of Humanity," "Fairest," "The Hun Within," "Common Property" and more recently with Dorothy Phillips in Allen Holubar's "The Right to Happiness."

Andersen is now at work on Dorothy Phillips' next feature.

MILDRED HARRIS CHAPLIN. Mildred Harris Chaplin is in need of a leading man. Work on her first production under the guidance of Louis B. Mayer cannot be started because of his inability to find in Los Angeles the right actor. "Fairest," "The Hun Within," "Common Property" and more recently with Dorothy Phillips in Allen Holubar's "The Right to Happiness."

of her physician. Because of the milk it is declared by the studio publicist that "her condition is wonderful."

SCHERTZINGER SHOWS CLASS. Victor Schertzinger, director of "Jodel Normand," recently showed class in the handling of a difficult situation. In order to get the right kind of shots representing Miss Normand "leaving for" and "arriving in" New York, Schertzinger found it necessary to run a special train from San Bernardino, Cal., up to the Mojave desert region. He chartered an engine, six coaches and a club-observation car, and handled all the side jobs himself, from train dispatcher down to dusting off the brass railing of the end car.

THE TOWER OF IVORY. "The Tower of Ivory," a production of the Universal picture story, is scheduled for an early date. It will be an Eminent author's film and in the cast there will be Edward G. Robinson, John Bowers, Sydney Ainsworth, W. Lawson Butts, Doris Pavin and Edythe Chapman. The story calls for some rather exotic locations and action, such as a London street, San Francisco dance halls, large theater scenes and a spectacular shipwreck off the Pacific Coast.

AN ALL-NIGHT REHEARSAL. Cecil de Mille, his company of players, including Thomas Meighan, Gloria Swanson, Bebe Daniels and about 100 extra people, put in a whole night recently at the Lasky studio in Hollywood, rehearsing one scene.

Lucrezia Bori on BEAUTY

Many women are troubled with superfluous hair. Unless superfluous hair is dark and noticeably coarse it is not wise to begin removing it from the arms, because frequent removal of such hair only increases its growth and demands the constant application of depilatories.

Experiments indicate that hair removed chemically does not coarsen or grow as quickly as hair removed by shaving.

There are many depilatories on the market. Sleecless evening gowns and daylight dresses of extreme transparency have brought a tremendous demand for depilatories. It is, however, to the woman who is embarrassed with a growth of hair on her face that these suggestions are offered.

Whenever possible it is best to have the direction of a professional in removing offending hairs. If the growth of hair is so marked that removal by surgery is desirable, under no circumstances put yourself in the hands of any one without first consulting your own family doctor.

The removal of hair by electricity is often successfully accomplished, but sometime the operator either misses the roots altogether or only temporarily abates their growth. The reason for the failure of so large a percentage of the hair-puncturing operation is that the oblique direction of the follicle makes it difficult to ascertain the exact location of the root.

The daily application of peroxide of hydrogen and even of salt water weakens superfluous hair and in time often destroys the roots.

If you wish to remove superfluous hair by the application of chemicals a good depilatory is made of:

Sulphur of barium . . . 3 ounces
Water . . . 12 ounces
Mix these ingredients and transform them into a paste by wetting cornstarch with the solution.

Apply this paste to the offending hairs. When the paste dries the hairs will come away with it. If your skin seems irritated or is reddened, anoint it with a zinc ointment, which may be made with one part of oxide of zinc reduced to a very fine powder, added to six parts of simple ointment. This is obtained at any drug store.

A pair of small pincers for the removal of superfluous hair are inexpensive and very efficacious in getting rid of scapular hairs. The flange ends of the pincers hold the hair firmly and a sharp jerk removes it with little or no pain.

While one man says of a thing: "It is impossible," and contents himself with saying so, another one passes him and does it. This has been the history of the world's progress ever since time began. We cannot say of anything that it is impossible in this marvelous world of invention and endeavor. We can only say: "It has never yet been done."

He was a New Yorker born and bred and an actor of many years' standing who had never moved very far away from Broadway. So he was accustomed to scandal, the gossip, the whispering of Broadway. He knew the reporter of Broadway, that upstart, synthetic, and unadventurous of guilty and innocent alike.

In the past he had read the scandals, he had listened to the gossip, laughed and thought no more about it. He had considered it part of the day's work.

But this—he crumpled the paper into a ragged ball—was different, somehow different. Broadway understood him and his, and he and his understood Broadway—while this was Calcutta. There was no charity here, no easy laughter, no understanding, but only a foul pandering to curiosity as to the doings of Americans come here to entertain Anglo-Indian society with the best Broadway had to offer.

It was shamelessly headlined as: "Disgraceful story," heaven knew where the reporter had got his material from; but he had described everything—interpreted everything—even the dance which Susan had whirled off on the spur of the moment.

And there were illusions, veiled and beastly insinuations—He swore out loud. His heart became bloated, flushed, congested, with hatred. He turned down the street.

The office of the Calcutta Englishman? He inquired from the statuesque policeman at the corner, and was directed where to find it. He gripped his cane firmly in his hand. He was going to interview the reporter or editor or whoever was responsible for the article and beat him within an inch of his life. He had always been a peaceful man. But this was for Susan; and she was the finest, dearest thing in his life. Why, he thought, she gave meaning to his life.

Never was knight-errant of the clanking, lance-toting days of romance more gallant and more loyal than the little American comedian who strode down the street, murder in his heart, stick firmly gripped.

He turned the corner. Here was the building, flat, drab, that looked as if it had strayed from London to Calcutta by accident. There was that undefinable something about it and atmosphere of paste and acid ink and dull scissors—that stamped it as the headquarters of a newspaper, and it hardly needed the brass plate to the right of the old-fashioned bell rope with the inscription, "Calcutta Englishman."

ACQUINTED ASTORIA

In bold six-inch gothic the Times, of Calcutta, featured the startling announcement: "Scandal in the Pigs in Clover Company! Lieutenant Mortimer, of H. M.'s Second Pathans, Elopes with Gwen Lorne, Beautiful Pianiste of the Company's Leading Man, Montagu Stairs!" In the Calcutta Englishman, it said: "Gwen Lorne, Heiress of Troy with American Finish, Jilts Beau Brummel Montagu Stairs! Montagu Swears Revenge!" The Hall Motherland, a hectic native Bengali sheet edited by a dark-complexioned Oxford graduate proud of his classical learning, heralded the elopement with "Egeria of West Runs Off with Anglo-Indian Apollo of East! Grave International Complications Expected to Result!" American Consul-General Demands "His Passports!" while the Imamat, a Moslem journal of religious tendencies and pan-Islamic leanings, greeted the news with the typical Moslem sneer: "These be Christian manners, O brother Moslems! Look to the sanctity of your harems!"

In all the papers the report of the elopement was followed by the gossip which Cadorna had given to the reporters, the night before at Hon. est Bombay Jack's, gossip which touched and tainted every member of the American theatrical company, and all over town, from the Howrah Station to the Old Park Street Cemetery, in the shipping offices, the counting houses, the messes and clubs, and in Government House itself, men whispered to each other and winked and jeered, their wives and the same of the sea cups or during their constitutions in Eden Gardens, and the sale of tickets of the last Calcutta performance—for late that night the company was off to Wazirabad—was enormous.

Ralph Emery was used to it all from Broadway, and, meeting Montagu Stairs in the lobby of the Hotel Semiramis, he greeted him with a snicker. "Say, Monty, did you see the one the Calcutta Englishman pulled off about that yellow diamond of yours—the one Gwen took along on her honeymoon? They say that—"

"Save your breath," interrupted the laughing man, "and let me laugh. He pulled an afternoon edition of the Calcutta Englishman from his pocket, pointed at a passage, and gave it to the comedian.

"Read that, dear boy," he said, and stepped into the bar.

Ralph read. Then he turned pale with rage. Suddenly he felt faint. He trembled and clutched a chair for support but he brushed the solicitous Eurasian porter aside, left the lobby with faltering steps and sat down on a bench in a little square in front of the hotel.

"My God!" he whispered.

Come out of it, Sister! What you have done in the PAST or what you have lost does not matter. It's digging in NOW and spreading help and cheer that counts.

Good Evening, Sister—

This article won't mean much to men. It has to do with complicated emotional machinery and most men haven't any. Generally speaking a man is built like an angle worm. Inwardly he's all digestion—outwardly he's all work. But women are different. Women do things. And then THEY THINK ABOUT THEM. Doing things is all very well. But thinking about them afterwards is doubtful business. If you're going to do any thinking do it first. But after you've committed the act the best thing you can do, especially if it was an unworthy act, is to forget it. And it it was a worthy act, then forget it all the quicker. Take it any way you want, retrospection, which some means mulling things over, is the bunk. To prove it here's my story:

I have two women friends. One of them has the most ladylike sort of a past—full of gentleness and beauty, but marked by a great sorrow. Someone she loved died. The other friend's past wasn't ladylike. She was strong and beautiful—and she used her strength and beauty wrongly to get what she wished from life. It has all turned to ashes and bitterness for her now—she has come to care for other things, to use her strength and beauty in other ways. She is using them in these wiser ways—BUT SHE CANNOT FORGET HER SIN.

Both of these friends of mine are loved and needed by a large circle of friends. Both of them have full, rich lives. Both of them have husbands who adore them, kiddies who cling to them. The days dawn just as new for them as they do for everyone else, the years stretch ahead just as glad and spotless. But for these two a shadow lies over everything because—THEY CAN'T FORGET. One can't forget her loss, the other can't forget her sin. The funny part is they don't WANT TO FORGET. They think it would be sorta wicked to forget. The one who has lost her loved one bows at that grief as if it were a shrine. To be glad again would be disloyal—so she thinks. And the other turns and turns the knife of repentance in her heart—trying to make up.

Now once upon a time that sort of thing was fashionable. Every well equipped adult was supposed to have a BURDEN which in due time, after making a lot of fuss about it, he "cast upon the Lord." It actually wasn't respectable not to have a "secret grief" or a "cross" or some other kind of spiritual ingrowing toe nail. You might as well have been an albino as not to have had a burden. But we see the silliness and selfishness and waste of all that now. It isn't YOUR HURT that counts—it's the HURT OF THE WORLD that needs attention. What you have done in the past, what you have lost, how you have felt, doesn't matter a hurrh. It's DIGGING RIGHT IN NOW AND SPREADING SERVICE AND CHEER THAT COUNTS. Everyone has suffered—everyone has sinned—sometime.

"Down shadowy lanes, across strange streams, Bridged over by our broken dreams, Behind the misty cape of years, Close to the great, salt font of tears The garden lies; strive as you may You cannot miss it in your way. All paths, that have been or shall be Pass somewhere through Gethsemane."

Your path—my path, sister. We've all been there. But why hug our own little sins and sorrows to our own selfish hearts when all the world is needing and calling. Why spoil the new days with the mildew from the old ones? The best way to LOVE THOSE WHO HAVE GONE is to pass on the cheer and the strength they gave you to those who are here now. The BEST WAY TO REPENT—is to forget it and plant new gardens.

God hasn't stopped growing apples just because Eve made such a mistake when she bit into that first one. Be a WOMAN sister—not a MAUSOLEUM.

The memory ought to be a storeroom, many turn theirs into a lumber room. Train the understanding. Take care that the mind has a stout and straight stem. Leave the flowers of wit and fancy to come of themselves. The progress of knowledge is slow. Like the sun, we cannot see it moving, but after a while we perceive that it has moved, nay, that it has moved onward.

Tom Santschi is generally credited with the honor of having served the longest period with a single producer without interruption. He was with Selig more than ten years while that producer was making "The Spoilers" and other Rev Beach stories. His nearest rival is probably Harry Moray, who has been with the Viagraph Company nearly a decade.

GARY'S BEDTIME STORY

(By Howard R. Gary.)

Once upon a time, when Uncle Wiggly Longears was out hopping through the woods, sort of looking for an adventure, the bunny gentleman saw Jimmie Wibblewobble, the boy duck, waddling along with an empty bag over his back.

"Where are you going, Jimmie?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"I am going to the mill to get some corn for my mother," answered the boy duck. "She is going to make some cakes for Lulu, Alice and me."

"That will be fine!" exclaimed the bunny rabbit. "I'll go with you. Perhaps, together, we may have an adventure. And look, Jimmie! There's Charlie Chick, the rooster boy. Let's ask him to go with us."

"No," quacked Jimmie. "In such a cross and unpleasant voice that Mr. Longears looked in surprise at the duck boy."

"Don't you like Charlie?" he asked. "I thought you and he were great friends."

"We were until he made fun of the way I quacked the other day," answered Jimmie. "He said I sounded like a old frog."

"And what did you say?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"Oh, I said his crowing sounded like a steam whistle with a lollypop stuck in it," quacked Jimmie. "Dear me!" sadly exclaimed Uncle Wiggly. "I never thought this would happen! Well, never mind. If you and Charlie are not good friends you wouldn't have any fun walking through the woods together. We'll go after the corn and see what happens next."

Charlie Chick, the rooster boy, was scratching away among the dried leaves in the woods. As Uncle Wiggly and Jimmie passed him, Charlie looked up and said:

"Hello, Uncle Wiggly! I like you!" "And I like you, Charlie," spoke the bunny. But the little rooster chap never looked at Jimmie Wibblewobble, and the duck boy never looked at Charlie, nor so much as greeted him with a nod. "Dear me!" sighed Uncle Wiggly, as he hopped on with Jimmie. "This is very sad! I hope something happens to make them good friends again. I can't try to do anything more of bringing them together."

Uncle Wiggly didn't say any more just then, about the quarrel between Jimmie and Charlie. Instead, the rabbit gentleman talked a story about a winter with snow for coating and ice for skating.

"Yes, and Thanksgiving and Christmas and everything!" quacked Jimmie. "I'm sure the birds and the little rooster soon they reached the store and Jimmie's bag was filled with kernels of yellow corn. The duck boy slung it over his back, and started off toward home."

"We didn't have any adventure yet, Uncle Wiggly, did we?" asked Jimmie as he waddled along.

"Not yet, but we may," answered the bunny. "I'll have lots of fun. I'll go to the ground and look for a funny way at Jimmie's bag of corn."

The little duck boy was waddling along, thinking of the nice corn he had. "I'm going to make, and Uncle Wiggly was walking beside him, with the sharp stick in his paws, when all at once Jimmie said:

"I guess I must be getting terrible strong!" quacked Jimmie.

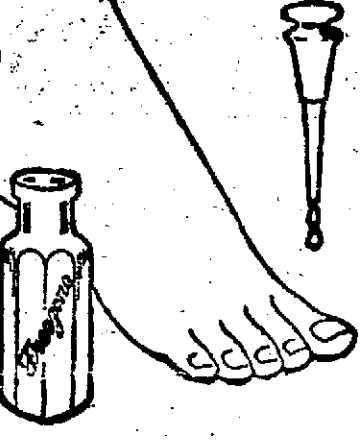

"What makes you think so?" asked the bunny.

"Because this bag of corn, which felt so heavy at first, feels so light now," answered Jimmie. "Most always, when I go to the mill for corn, the bag gets heavier the longer I carry it. Now it's getting lighter. I wonder what makes it."

"I wonder," said Uncle Wiggly also, and then he cried: "Oh, Jimmie, look!"

THIN PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve Force in Two Weeks' Time in Many Instances.

The average person is beginning to realize more and more that the lack of physical strength and nerve force is the direct cause of many of his troubles. (Recently evidenced by excessive thinness) are the direct cause not only of the failure to succeed in life's struggle for the necessities of existence, but also for the handicap in one's social aspirations. Compare the thin, sickly, angular frame with the well rounded form which is usually accompanied by the bloom of health and attractiveness.

That millions of people are conscious of this handicap is evident from the continued appearance in newspapers and magazines of many suggestions proposing various remedies in food or medicine or exercises, either of which might or might not be appropriate for a given case.

Authorities, however, agree that healthy nerve tissue is absolutely essential to a strong, robust body and mind. Weak nerves, while indicated by a multitude of different symptoms, more immediately and generally result in lack of energy, sleeplessness, irritability, depression, etc., which conditions gradually consume the healthy flesh, leaving only bony structure, a flat chest, bony neck and scrawny arms and legs.

Our bodies need more phosphorus than most of them are able to extract from the foods we eat nowadays, and many opinions affirm that there is nothing which may be taken into the human system that so effectively supplies this deficiency as the pure organic phosphate known as bitro-phosphate and sold by good druggists everywhere.

The essential phosphoric food elements in bitro-phosphate assimilated by the nerve cells should soon produce a pleasing change in nerve energy and hence increased vitality and strength. With the burden of nervousness, lack of energy, etc., lifted, normal weight with its attractive fullness and ruddy glow of health replaces the former picture of skin and bones. Miss Georgia Hamilton, who was once thin and frail, reporting her own experience, writes: "Bitro-Phosphate has brought a magic transformation with its gain in nerve and never before felt so well."

CAUTION:—Although Bitro-Phosphate is unexcelled for the relief of nervousness and attendant disorders, owing to its tendency to increase weight, one should watch the scales while taking it unless it is the desire to put on flesh.—Advertisement.

CIVIL SERVICE BODY TO HEAR SCHOOL FIGHT

Following a wordy battle before the board of education, in which School Director Fred Campbell demanded that J. G. Winham, department mechanic, be dismissed, but refused to make specific charges, despite the demand of other members of the school board, preparations were made today to lay the entire issue before the civil service board for a settlement. Campbell was scored in last night's board meeting by H. Edwards, Mrs. Louise Short and President Floyd Gray of the board, when demands were made that he produce evidence to substantiate his charges against Winham and refused to do so, state to state that Winham had a motorcycle, belonging to the school department, in his basement.

"You are not a man of your word," charged Edwards, when Campbell stated that he did not care to make his charges against Winham before the board, "because he did not want to take chances."

He placed the facts before Superintendent Hunter, said Campbell, "that is enough."

Hunter stated that the only charges he had heard were the old motorcycle charges which he, Gray, and two assistant superintendents investigated. Winham had moved an old motorcycle, classed as junk, to the corporation yards when room was scarce at the school storehouse, and later to his own basement when room was scarce at the yard, Hunter said. It lay unused in his basement, he also said. Winham had readily given information about it, the superintendent added. Campbell said that he understood that Winham's son had, however, used the machine.

Hunter said that Winham's son had a new motorcycle in the garage. This one, he said, was in a basement in storage and not where it could be readily gotten at.

"There has been too much foolishness about all this," declared Gray. "I am ready to exonerate Winham."

On suggestion of Director J. F. Chandler, Winham was suspended without charges, to open the way for a complete examination by the civil service board. Winham was represented by H. E. Price, his attorney.

Members of the civil service board state that they will go into every detail of the matter in their investigation.

AIR DERBY HEADS HERE NEXT WEEK

Plans for an "aviation luncheon," at which the members of the commission arranging the "around-the-world" derby will be guests, were laid today by the Chamber of Commerce. Arrangements are being made with the intention of having the entire membership participate in the special attractions will be provided for the occasion.

The air derby commission is due here next Friday and will remain until November 3, when it will sail for the Orient. Commodore Louis D. Beaumont, Major Charles G. Giddens and Benjamin Hillman head the party. Alan R. Hawley, president of the Aero Club of America, is a guest of Commodore Beaumont.

The commission is making its tour of the world to pick out proper landing places for the derby. Oakland also has been placed on the tentative route and at the request of Major Giddens, President H. C. Capwell of the Oakland chamber has named a board of referees for the flight. While in Oakland the commission will inspect aviation fields.

Airplane Companies Organize Along Coast

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—Attention of the State corporation commission has been caught by the utilization of the airplane for commercial purposes.

"Since the end of the war," says Commissioner Bellows in a statement issued today, "noticeable effort is being made to use the airplane for commercial purposes. A number of companies have been organized with this end in view and some of them have received permission to sell stock."

Bellows announced the Pathfinder Aerial Transportation Company has been permitted to sell 417 shares of stock valued at $10,000. It will buy its first plane with this amount and institute passenger service between Los Angeles and San Francisco, touching at some way points.

The company was organized by V. H. Brazil, former army aviator.

QUEEN OF BELGIUM DOESN'T BELIEVE IN EQUALITY OF SEXES

ON BOARD KING ALBERT'S TRAIN IN PENNSYLVANIA, Oct. 24 (By the Associated Press).—Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians advocates votes for women, but she does not believe in the equality of the sexes any more than in employing militant methods to obtain suffrage. She said so today in the first interview she has given in America.

War has no terrors for her majesty, and she has no fear of German conquest, but she was as embarrassed as a girl when asked in English her views on topics of common interest to all women. She turned her head aside and the color flooded her cheeks as she exclaimed, "What shall I do?" in French to Lieutenant Colonel Nolf, her physician, who sat beside her, regarding her with a paternal smile, half of amusement.

She clung gamely to English, however, and displayed one of her traits of character when she quickly but with obvious determination disregarded a suggestion that she converse in French and let Dr. Nolf act as interpreter. As the interview proceeded she regained her serenity and seemed to enjoy it.

"It is like school," she said. "You are the teacher and I the pupil having my examination. I should not want to prevent women from voting."

The queen looked rather worn and she was asked if she were not weary of traveling. "I enjoy it," she responded. "I have been very much impressed with the clear-eyed, red-cheeked girls I have seen in your work rooms. I think their evident happiness is due to the pure air, the cleanliness and the generally splendid surroundings. It is my hope that employers of working people in Belgium and all over Europe will model their factories after those in the United States.

"We have lost so many in the war," she added sadly, "that the women must work, and as women are the mothers of the race everything possible should be done to protect them."

Queen Elizabeth has very definite ideas on the education of girls, it developed. She does not believe in the separation of the sexes at school, although she advocates emphatically educating girls along one line and boys along quite another.

"The war taught me," she said, "that there is no equality of the sexes. My husband was a soldier and I was a nurse. So it was with all women. The future should see work divided along the same lines. When women are forced to earn their own living I have no objection to their doing that for which they are best fitted, but those who do not need to work should learn hygiene and general hospital work. They should be social workers, librarians, playground instructors."

WOULD ALLOW WOMEN TO CAST BALLOT.

Her majesty explained, however, that lack of equality between the sexes should not prevent women from voting.

SCHOOL BONDS TO BE SOLD AT ONCE

Following official canvass of the school bond election, at 1 o'clock next Tuesday, call for issuance of the bonds will be made at once by the board of education to the board of supervisors, who will issue and sell the bonds according to plans perfected today in the offices of the school department. This will mean issuance of the bonds at the earliest possible moment, and permit a start of the school building program before the end of the next school semester.

Architects' contests to design buildings and other details will begin as soon as the supervisors decide on the issuance of the bonds, that no time may be lost in these details when the money is available to start actual building, according to Superintendent Fred M. Hunter of the school department.

"What does your majesty think of the trend of modern fashions for women?" she was asked.

"They change so often I cannot keep track of them," was the laughing reply. "What are they?"

"I do not wear them," she responded, with a shrug of her shoulders. "I am always behind the procession."

The prediction was made that her preference for turbans would establish a new military model for women in this country and the queen explained why she always wears close-fitting hats. She originated the style during the war when she found it so convenient to wind a simple piece of silk around her hair when she visited the trenches or the hospitals.

AUTOIST TANGLE PROBE BY POLICE

What Kenneth H. Dyer claims is a tangled auto deal is today being straightened out by police inspectors, following Dyer's detention last night by the local police because his machine did not bear proper license plates and the driver did not have an operator's license, according to the police.

Dyer was arrested at Milton and San Pablo avenue by Officer J. Rose and Special Officer Charles Lewis, who claim the machine is listed to Emily H. Philbrook, 111 California street, Santa Cruz.

On being interrogated, the police say, Dyer claimed he bought the machine from a woman in Berkeley, but he had failed to have the license transferred. He was released on bail, pending an investigation by the police inspectors, while the machine in question was placed in a local garage by the police.

Flour Price Advance May Affect Bakeries

Despite the fact that the price of flour has been steadily increasing, particularly during the past two months, wholesale bakers in Alameda county have taken no steps looking toward an increase in the cost of bread to consumers. It is said that the San Francisco bakers will take some steps looking toward a higher selling price for bread.

Flour yesterday advanced 20 cents a barrel, making the price of 50-pound sacks to the consumer $2.42. It was announced that this advance would be followed by a raise to the bakers, bringing the selling cost to $11.90 a barrel.

THE TREATY RESERVATIONS.

While two or three of the ten proposed reservations against the peace treaty which the foreign relations committee of the United States Senate have endorsed may be in spirit and intent wise and timely, if practicable, the reservations as a whole are unacceptable, as they are impossible of realization. Their adoption would be equivalent to refusal to ratify the treaty. They are therefore just as objectionable as proposals to modify the text of the treaty. Indeed, they bear all the appearances of being the second assault of opponents of the peace treaty who have sought to defeat ratification through amendments.

The effect of the reservations would be to put the United States in the position of seeming to approve the League of Nations, yet refusing to accept any real obligation under the league covenant. This is not the correct way to proceed. The United States should accept the League of Nations as it is written as a section of the peace treaty, or withhold acceptance and seek modification of the league agreement in concert with the other nations which have agreed to the plan, or it should forthwith reject the league proposal. To pretend to approve it but deny all vital obligations and refuse the opportunities it offers to co-operate with other nations to achieve its high aims would not be creditable procedure.

The first reservation construes article 1 to mean that in case of a notice of withdrawal from the League of Nations the United States shall be the sole judge of whether all its obligations have been fulfilled. This presupposes that the United States may want to withdraw from the undertaking before its obligations thereunder have been fulfilled—an unfounded reflection upon the people of the United States. The method of withdrawal from the League provided in the covenant is simple, safe and just. It imposes an equal responsibility upon all members, and one which this country should and may least of all fear to face.

Proposed reservation 2 deals with article X of the covenant. It denies all obligations imposed by that article, the most important of the whole covenant, and which President Wilson has described as the heart of the covenant. The responsibilities imposed by that article may become serious. They mean active cooperation among the nations in preventing war and preserving the peace of the world. Their fulfillment would expose the steel in the League of Nations glove—determined measures to prevent such a holocaust of war as the world has just sustained. The article was especially designed to bring the nations instantly together to prevent such an assault upon other nations as occurred in Asia recently, committed. Senator Root has urged a reservation of a time-lapse of ten years for a given term of years. If such a modification is possible it ought to be changed, but to reserve the article merely is to reject the treaty. The Senate reservationists cannot be ignorant of this.

That part of the reservation which provides that military or naval forces of the country shall not be employed for any purpose under the league except with the approval of Congress is properly suggested. It is generally agreed that a right of Congress to declare war and other such authorization of employment of armed force cannot be taken away by a treaty agreement—that right being derived from the Constitution. Therefore this reservation would merely have the effect of clarifying the limitation of the government under the covenant.

That no mandate over a foreign territory shall be accepted without the consent of Congress is an objection against which there can be no valid objection. It is impossible to conceive how the government could discharge its duties as a mandatory power without the cooperation of Congress and the League agreement does not impose upon any member the necessity of accepting a mandate against its will.

As to all the other reservations they apparently ly represent a purpose to kill the peace treaty. Domestic questions and the Monroe doctrine are adequately excluded by the terms of the covenant. In resolving to withhold assent to the articles referring to Shantung the committee proposes something that is impossible with ratification of the treaty. And in reserving "liberty of action with respect to any controversy which may arise under said articles between the Republic and China and the Empire of China," it is uttering a threat which does not measure up to any standard of statesmanship.

One reservation ill becomes the dignity of the Senate. It is that proposing that the United States shall not be obliged to contribute to any of the expenses of the League or its agencies unless and until such funds shall have been appropriated by Congress. It is provided in the League agreement that the expenses shall be apportioned among the member nations on the same basis as the International Postal Union. That is an exactly fair and equitable arrangement and of course the funds must be appropriated by Congress, regardless of the fate of this ridiculous reservation.

The reservationists also want absolute freedom to escape any of the obligations that may arise under an agreement for the limitation of armament. Past untruthful utterances of opponents of the treaty to the contrary notwithstanding, the league covenant does refer to disarmament and limitation of war preparations. It provides that arrangements for the discussion of this very vital world subject shall be arranged for as early as practicable. A positive and faithfully observed agreement on this question among the nations would go further than anything else to prevent war. But the treaty opponents want to reserve the right to increase armament without reference to the League council. They tag on the phrase "when the United States is threatened with invasion or engaged in war." But in such event the only question would be to provide sufficient armament to win the war in the shortest possible time.

The reservationists also repudiate the obligation, under article 16, to break off commercial, financial and social relations with a covenant-breaking state—a very positive warning to an aggressive nation not to break the law and start a war.

These reservations must be considered as an overt attempt to kill the peace treaty by emasculating the section creating the League of Nations. Whatever the purpose, no other effect can possibly follow their adoption.

And while the Senate is wasting its time in such efforts the domestic situation, more menacing to the national prosperity than the war ever was, suffers from neglect.

A NEW PACIFIC CABLE.

War Department officials, in a report to the Senate committee on commerce, state that a marine cable by the so called northern route, connecting Cape Flattery, Washington, and Asia, by way of Alaska and the Philippine islands, is practicable and would suffer no interference from ice. The department also recommends two auxiliary routes.

One such route would be through arrangements with the radio station at Anadyr, Siberia, to forward messages to Vladivostok, and takes account of the fact that the wireless station at Nome, Alaska, can work with that station. The other auxiliary route would be to use the present Alaska cable to Valdez, where a new radio station could be constructed to work with another station on the western limits of the Aleutian Islands, from which point a cable could be constructed to extend 1600 miles to Japan.

It is thus apparent that the establishment of another means of transpacific communication is not beset with great difficulties. Neither does it seem to involve the expenditure of a lot of time nor an inordinate outlay of money. Private interests have already considered a project to finance the laying of a new transpacific cable. They observe that there is a demand for more facilities for communication between Asia and the United States, especially in the service of trade between the two continents.

With the War Department endorsing the practicability of the project—though that was unnecessary—Congress should do whatever is necessary to bring about the speedy realization of it.

It is a matter of regret that the "capital and labor" conference which convened in Washington October 6, at the call of the President, has broken up without any visible achievement. Both the laborer and the employer group of delegates have withdrawn from the conference—the labor group first, because of non-acceptance of its view on the subject of collective bargaining, and the employers second. In the hope of bringing some benefit out of the conference, the President has now asked the third fifteen—the so-called public representatives—to continue in session with the aim of producing a plan of co-operation between organized labor and industrial operators. Unfortunately this group is not as representative of the public as it might be. Its work will also fail to have the benefit of the exchange of opposing views which the labor and employers' representatives would have indulged in if they had remained in the conference. Furthermore, the proposals they may offer will not carry the force that would have been behind the decisions of the original joint conference. But the public's representatives should do their best to find a solution of the problem they face. Nobody can do more than that.

NOTES and COMMENT

Market Director Harris Weinstock has not of late worried A. Paladina, fish magnate, but there are other woes. A man is suing him to recover $100,000 in damages, claimed to have been sustained in a fish market deal, wherein the magnate's daughter was to be "thrown in" as a bribe consideration. It is the great romance of Fisherman's Wharf.

The layman is likely to be puzzled by the reported "fight" being put up by "Dr. North" the man convicted and under sentence for the death of the nurse Elizabeth Reed—to prevent the state Medical Board annulling his license. If an automatic rule ever was timely it would seem to be when it could step in to prevent a practitioner continuing to perform under such circumstances.

It is now declared that Maynard has been beaten in the air derby. But he still has a considerable advantage over at least ten of those who started. He is one of the survivors.

Senator Capper, in presenting the farmers' side of the high cost of food, says that while they are selling their products at a loss in a declining market, consumers are paying rising prices. If this is all true the farmer has an alibi. That part concerning rising prices is certainly true. But it is news that the farmer is losing money.

Ship christening without wine has been discussed extensively and the conclusion apparently arrived at that it cannot be done, but now they propose to launch ships built in Japan for this government according to shinto ceremony. Nobody seems to know what this is, but there is violent protest. Jack has pretty well lost his superstition, or he would give notice of refusal to go aboard such hoodoo ship.

A mare's feather nest containing bright sky-green eggs has been discovered by a San Francisco paper agent the school bond election. Otherwise there is no doubt as to the outcome of Tuesday's balloting.

The price of sugar has been fixed all right. Dealers will get into deep trouble if they charge more than 11 cents a pound. Now all that is necessary is for those having sugar to come on with it. As it couldn't be bought at any price before, there is a sort of vague feeling that limiting the price now may not entirely meet the emergency.

It really must seem that the latest Mexican outrage—carrying off an American consular agent and holding him for enormous ransom—would be accepted as the limit but you cannot tell Mexican outrages against Americans have gone on for seven years without getting a new out of us.

We continue to be interested in the grounds upon which divorce suits are based. Here is one in which the plaintiff wife accuses the defendant husband of spitting in the sink. It isn't a nice thing to do, but the law makes significantly omitted to include in the list of acts that which would constitute legal grounds for annulling the hygienic bonds.

"Trade Board raps Watson and Sherman." The Trade Board displays more pugnacity and acrimony than is necessary, or even desirable, in such a body. It isn't a fighting unit, and commercial ends are never served by fighting.

A German wireless dispatch received at London, October 15, says the parliamentary sub-committee of the German National Assembly appointed to deal with President Wilson's "peace activities" would receive on the following Tuesday a report drafted on the basis of archives of the foreign office. What are we to understand from that?

Germ of an idea found in the Washington Post. "Frank Lane's" as president of the American Industrial Conference will stand him in good stead when he becomes the senator from California and is called to the chair.

Trach the mob a lesson. The announcement has been made that even a criminal who had a hand in the Luning, hanging or in abetting the Luning, in any way whatever will be arrested. Under the Nebraska law everyone who participates in any way in a murder is guilty of a principal offense. WHY SCHULZ FAILED.

The secret was leaked out that the real reason why the farmers were opposed to the daylight-savings plan was that they were not able to get the powers to adopt it. The chickens insisted on going to work on the old clock. In open defiance of Congress they refused to knock off the extra hour from their morning heavy sleep. So, under the new plan, instead of the roosters waking up the farmers to wake up the roosters. This, quite naturally, aroused feelings of mutual antagonism. No farmer relishes the task of going out each morning while the moon is still riding high in the heavens, and cutting a bad yard full of roosters off the perch. So there was nothing to be done but repeal the law.—Thrill Magazine.

AN EASTERN APPRAISEMENT.

Senator Johnson spoke in Los Angeles last night, finding 7,000 people to hear him and part of that number to applaud. But what does Los Angeles really think? On the heels of the California message urging ratification, signed by California state officers, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and prominent business men, comes the statement from Marshall Sumner, a prominent leader of Los Angeles, that the city is at odds with Progressive Republican opposition to Senator Johnson's position.

There comes news that the directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce have unanimously passed resolutions endorsing the nation's acceptance of the league. It is stated that Senator Johnson's meeting had no sooner been announced than twenty-four prominent Republicans, his former supporters, including leading women as well as men, issued a declaration repudiating all connection with the Johnson committee.

There is ample evidence that the President made his influence tellingly felt on the coast. Not Mr. Hoover, whose fine speech for the treaty and league was reported yesterday, is doing so. But the State had no doubt made up its mind weeks ago—New York Evening Post.

HEALTH and HADDINESS

Why 'Eczema' Sufferers Must Learn Real Cause of Trouble

By DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. D., (Johns Hopkins University)

What's in a name? Usually a lot of other names. Call any skin malady "eczema" and the multitude of different affections hidden under this coat of many colors will remain as bad and as uncurable.

A patient who consulted me recently had an eruption upon the back of his hands. He graduated twenty years ago from the college in which he is now a professor. Quoth he: "Look at this eczema on my hands!"

I saw an eruption which itched him terribly. There were splits, peels and moist, bloody cracks all across the backs of his hands.

"What do you think of it?" he begged. "I'll tell you my thoughts only after I have all the facts," was my answer.

"Well, it's my uric acid diathesis," he solemnly avowed. "Don't believe that," I smiled. "Read your mind of that ancient delusion."

"Eczema is often the result of uric acid, you know that," he stubbornly insisted.

Then I tried coaxingly and diplomatically to let my friend, the professor, down gently. He was told that eczema has not more to do with the body—uric acid—than it has to do with mind and money. Finally, the shock fell. He was made to discard the word eczema as well as uric acid.

The itchy, moist, cracked eruption on the back of his hands was traced to another cause, the removal of which soon cured the trouble.

Poisonous flowers, soaps, irritants, chemicals, heavy foods, infections and many other factors such as parasites stir up the dermal bag in which you hide. The eruptions which follow are all too quickly labelled "eczema."

Dr. Walverton, writing in the Bacteriological Therapist, believes that vaccines made of killed germs may heal all eczemas. He reports the following three cases which were aided by this method.

"A woman patient had for many years suffered from an eczema which had been treated by a number of competent physicians, with but slight and only temporary relief. The case finally came under the care of a physician who was interested in bacterial therapy. At first the doctor treated the woman by the use of ointments, alternatives, etc., with about the same lack of success which had crowned the efforts of his predecessor in the case. Then it occurred to him to make a culture from the eczema."

He did, and from the culture prepared a vaccine, with the result that after a very few inoculations the patient was discharged as cured.

The third case that came under observation was that of a "perverse blonde" waitress who had an intractable scaly eczema behind each ear and at the margin of the hair over her forehead. She was very pessimistic as to the results of treatment, as she said that she had "tried everything." A dose of vaccine was given and the patient failed to return in a week for a second inoculation.

A vaccine failed to do so. She was not again seen until about six weeks later, at which time she appeared to have been cured by the first and only injection of the vaccine.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR CABLE TO JAPAN GO ON

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Plans for laying a new cable across the Pacific to Japan "are progressing as fast as is customary in negotiating landing rights with a foreign country," George C. Ward, vice-president and general manager of the Commercial Pacific Cable Co., declared in a statement given out here today.

"We are awaiting communication from the Japanese government in regard to the terms and conditions under which we may land our proposed duplicate cable to Japan. In the meantime, there is no real delay, as the manufacture of the cable will take at least two years."

Japanese interests also are known to be preparing for the laying of a

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Governor Stephens is urged to include the high cost of living in the subjects to be considered by the proposed special session of the legislature, which may be called to consider national woman's suffrage, in a letter sent to the Governor today by Senator Wm. E. Brown of Los Angeles.

Declaring that the Governor has been quoted as saying nothing but suffrage will be included in the call, Brown wrote:

"I sincerely hope that you are misquoted in this, as the most important question that confronts the people of California in this hour is the ever-increasing cost of living. It is well known that this unbearable and unnecessary condition is largely due to speculation and profiteering, which could be corrected in a great measure if we had a proper law under which we could reach the despicable profiteers, who laugh while they juggle speculation and profiteering."

"As you know, our so-called Cartwright antitrust law is a joke, the teeth having been extracted from it by the legislature of 1909.

"The attorney-general advises me that a number of other States have efficient anti-trust laws, under which the combinations in restraint of trade can be reached, but that the Cartwright act in its emasculated form is practically useless. This matter could be easily rectified by the legislature simply amending the law, so that it would contain its original provisions."

STATE TO PICK HOME TRACTS FOR SOLDIERS

BERKELEY, Oct. 24.—A soldier settlement board of California to provide farms for returned fighters, will become a reality tomorrow at a meeting of the state land settlement board to be held in the office of its chairman, Dr. Elwood Mead, in Agriculture hall at the University of California.

Consideration of sixty-nine tracts of land ranging from one acre from Modoc to San Diego counties will occupy the attention of the five members of the state board. Action will be taken first on a soldier settlement while in addition two or possibly three sites for state land projects may be decided upon at tomorrow's meeting.

According to Dr. Mead the new soldier settlement will not be smaller than 4000 acres in size and may comprise as many as three times that number of acres, depending upon the prices fixed for the various sites.

"We will decide on the location which will afford the soldier the most advantages," declared Dr. Mead today. "The size of the settlement will depend upon the valuation of the land in question. Full consideration will be given every one of the large number of tracts offered for sale and in addition to the soldier settlement we may possibly purchase two or three additional tracts of land for civilian projects similar to the state colony at Durham."

The soldier, however, will receive first consideration from board, according to Dr. Mead. Not until his problem has been settled will other sites be considered.

Members of the state board who will meet in Berkeley tomorrow in addition to Dr. Mead, are Mortimer Fleishacker, San Francisco; E. E. Wangelheim, Modesto; Frank B. Flint, Los Angeles, and P. F. Cogswell, El Monte.

Sessions of the board will begin at 10 o'clock and will last all day.

OAKLAND MAN VISITS COMRADE OF 'SIXTIES' WAR

Auld acquaintances should never be forgot, according to Charles H. Barton, retired lumberman, who returned to Oakland yesterday from a visit to his old home place, Augusta, Maine, bringing with him trophies of the Civil War in which he was a volunteer. Barton walked into the postoffice at Augusta at the beginning of his eastern sojourn and demanded to have audience with one Orrin P. Smart, a veteran employee of Trask San. The stranger was 6 feet, 4 inches tall and straight as an arrow. Fifty-two years ago when boys the two men had worked together as log drivers on the Roach river. It was their first reunion.

Barton at the close of the Civil War had come to California. In 1868 he settled in Mendocino county, later going to Nevada county to establish his home. He resided at Truckee for 35 years becoming a pioneer in that region. Three years ago Barton came to Oakland. He lives at 1300 Fifty-fifth avenue. Barton and Smart had lost sight of each other until Bar-

MYSTERY SHOOTING NEAR CREED HOME

An old hat, perforated with two bullet holes, is the lone clue to the mystery of two shots being fired in the rear of the residence of W. D. Creed, president of the Elstway Water Company, 128 Carrington avenue, Piedmont, at 1:40 o'clock this morning.

Creed denied firing the shots. A squad of officers, dispatched to the scene by Chief of Police B. F. Becker, scoured the district. No other clue to the gunman, other than the hat, was unearthed.

The hat was found by Special Officer Henry Gordon. He was nearby when the shooting occurred and ran to the scene.

S. F. LUMBER FIRE THREATENS HOMES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—A score of wooden buildings were threatened with $20,000 damage done to the lumber yard of H. S. Thompson, at Mission and Charles streets, in a spectacular fire last night in which thousands of feet of lumber burned and the fire department was forced to wage a stiff battle to save other property in the neighborhood.

The fire, according to witnesses, seemed almost to spread through the yard simultaneously, a two-story frame building and the lumber piles being wrapped in flames almost before the fire department was able to train hose on the burning property.

Sparks from burning lumber, carried by the wind, landed buildings blocks away, and four fire alarms were sent in. Fire Chief Thomas Murphy directed the fire fighting. Twelve engine companies, five chemicals and other apparatus was used in subduing the blaze.

According to Tony Jones, a night watchman, the blaze originated in sawdust that had collected about an electric motor in the building, used to furnish power for a saw.

Tender-Hearted Man Held As Nihilist

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Although held at the Angel Island Immigration Station as a nihilist, Bernard Sernaker, awaiting deportation proceedings, says that he's not a savant, one in a million, but a common man, scrupulously to the commandment "Thou Shalt Not Kill," that he refuses to eat the flesh of slain animals or even wear shoes, holding that leather comes from slain beasts.

Sernaker has been held at the station for three months, awaiting investigation with a view to deportation. Attorney John G. Lawlor has filed action seeking his release on habeas corpus proceedings, stating that he expects to see that his client is properly clothed and fed. Sernaker came to this country with his wife and two children, eleven years ago, from Russia.

Mrs. West Declares Husband Won't Work

Camden H. West believes the dictionary contains one word too many, according to his wife, Ruby West. The superfluous one is "work." In her suit for divorce, she charges that he has not worked since their marriage, living on remittances from relatives in the east. When funds ran low, he cashed a worthless check, alleges the wife, and she says her mother, Mrs. Martha Frank, had to make it good.

ALL SCHOOL ACCOUNTS TO BE AUDITED

First steps toward a complete reorganization of the business offices of the school department were taken today by School Business Manager Lloyd Barzee, when John Edgmont, head of the commercial department of the Oakland High School was introduced Barzee.

Barzee, who will audit every account in the school system, from the school board accounts to the accounting of student bodies in the various schools. This will co-ordinate all accounts and all funds under which school money is drawn, with one central head keeping in touch with all expenditures. Every warrant for money on any school fund will pass through the new auditor's hands.

This is the first step, according to Barzee, in a new accounting system for the public schools that will be complete in the next three days.

The system follows the discovery, from audit of school accounts, that a discrepancy of $2700 in school store-room supplies and order blanks existed, due, according to Barzee's investigations, to carelessness and absence of checks on such accounts.

The new system, according to Barzee, will provide a check for every cent coming in and going out of the school treasury, with a checking system for every cent's worth of supplies.

Edgmont's appointment follows the resignation of V. H. Irwin, former auditor, who, in addition to his auditing duties, acted as a bookkeeper, thus making impossible careful audits in his department.

CITY JAIL 'TIP RING' ATTACKED

Two reigns today among police court lawyers, with the first step toward breaking up the "tip ring" that Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen charges has sprung up about the city jail. Petersen says certain lawyers obtain inside information of arrests and then solicit clients. Lawyers, obtaining permits to see certain prisoners today, were locked in with those prisoners, instead of being allowed roam the corridors, despite their protests.

Charges by certain attorneys that other attorneys from San Francisco, through corridor solicitations, had taken away their clients, precipitated the row.

Charges of favoritism toward certain attorneys were made today, also before Federal Judge M. T. Pooling, when a woman arrested under the red light law said she was instructed by a jailer to employ a certain local attorney. The attorney denied having solicited such practice.

Youths Arraigned for Theft of Auto Tires

SAN JOSE, Oct. 24—Dominick Pucitello, 17, one of three youths accused of stripping tires from a stolen automobile, was arraigned today in the juvenile court, following arraignment by Police Judge Thomas R. Dougherty. Paul Orlando, 25, and Sam Bano, 18, who were arrested with Pucitello, were also arraigned by Judge Dougherty and their preliminary examinations were set for October 28.

GERMAN LEADER TELLS OFFICERS TO GO TO WORK

BERLIN Oct. 24—Lieutenant-General Albrecht, formerly commander of the border defense troops in the northeast advised the officers of his command on the occasion of their demobilization to go to work in the mines or on the farms.

"Everything in Germany," he declared, is waiting for the celebrated great men who can help. Better not wait for him gentlemen."

This is a facsimile of the Memorial Tablet, received by E. H. Liscum Post, Spanish War Veterans, and which it is planned to hang in a place of honor in Memorial Hall. The tablet is made of metal taken from the historic battleship Maine, another relic of which has been placed by the Spanish War Veterans in Lakeside Park, where exercises are held yearly. The local veterans are arranging ceremonies for the formal installation of the tablet.

NEW REALTY PLAN GIVEN APPROVAL

Several new realty tracts are to be placed on the market this spring, according to street plans and other details filed today with the city council. Permission was granted Theodore Gier to build sidewalks on Mitchell street, between East Fourteenth and East Sixteenth streets, and his map of the property was accepted as official under the name "Gier Tract." Several other tract plans involving street changes were also filed by realty firms. Routine street work occupied the remainder of the council session.

ARMY HOLDS OWN IN SHAM HAWAII BATTLE

HONOLULU, Thursday, Oct. 23 (By The Associated Press)—Despite heavy attacks by the naval forces under Rear Admiral William B. Fletcher, U. S. N., the land army of Major-General Charles G. Morton, U. S. Army, entrenched in Oahu Island, is holding its own in the sham battle being waged against it. The naval drive against the island began this morning. Its purpose is to show the defensive qualities of the land forces from an attack by naval units.

PARLEY MAY END STRIKE ON DOCKS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24—The belief was expressed in shipping circles here today that settlement of the Stevedores' strike will be consummated within 48 hours, following the announcement that a conference had been arranged between representatives of the stevedores' and employers' organizations.

No definite date for the conference was announced, but according to labor officials who have been endeavoring to end the strike, the scheduled meeting will be held tomorrow.

Further negotiations between the workers and their employers, it was announced have been made possible through the creation of a new conference committee to represent the stevedores. Previous efforts to arrange the conference were unavailing because the employers objected to the personnel of the workers' committee notably in the case of T. McGrath secretary of the Stevedores' and Riggers' Union, now under a charge of murder in connection with the shooting of Nelson Dunning at Second and Parnassus avenues several weeks ago.

British Golf Stars Fail to Qualify

LONDON, Oct. 24—The classics of British golfdom, Vardon, Brad and Taylor, all failed to qualify for the final stages of the Walton Heath tournament.

In the golfing country the announcement had about the same effect as would the announcement that Ty Cobb had been sold to Terre Haute.

Vardon was a sport when a certain young Quimet took his measure five or six years ago and his only comment on the fall of the great triumph was "We can't always do it."

TO 'TALK' WITH RADICAL MAY MEAN 'PRISON'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—A bill aimed at stamping out every vestige of radical agitation in the United States was introduced by Senator McKellar, Tennessee, today.

The bill provides that any one plotting the overthrow of the government and persons associating either publicly or privately with such advocates, shall be fined at least $5000 or imprisoned from one to ten years. A jury may order such persons deported to a portion of the Philippine Islands set off for this purpose.

The bill includes "every citizen of the United States who directly or indirectly commences or carries on any verbal, written or printed intercourse or correspondence with any other person or persons, whether citizens or aliens, with the intent, either peaceably or by violence, to overthrow the government of the United States, or to disintegrate, or in any other manner set aside or do away with all government, or who joins any organization having this purpose, or who directly or indirectly..."

Pauline Starke, for the first time in her screen career, played an ingenue with Clara Kimball Young in "The Eyes of Youth."

BANISH U. S. DRY ADVOCATES, PLEA OF BRITISH PASTOR

LONDON, Oct. 24—"Man cannot exist on mere food alone," is the broadside in support of alcoholic drink fired by Rev. H. L. Warneford, in his Harvest Festival sermon at Fosseley.

Baiting the so-called "pussy-footers," the American exponents of prohibition, has become a favorite pastime in Britain but the Fosseley minister makes the most sensational plea yet heard.

"God has given us water and also the instinct to flavor and add body to it so that the various tastes that are found among men can be satisfied," he declared.

"Wine was given to make the heart of man glad, and by that word wine, I infer anything with a strength that is above that of plain water. God has given us variety and our tastes as individuals vary."

"Some like water and others like something with more body in it, from the national beverage up to that nectar of the gods, the regal champagne, all of them alike gifts of God."

"It is something enough to provoke national wrath that men should come, and are still coming, from over the water to try to force upon us measures which in themselves are decidedly fishy."

"Let Jonathan make quick use of his return ticket. Men who would come and try to banish one of God's good gifts from our island had better be given a week's notice to clear out."

"It does cost a little more per pound, but Mr. Williams says a pound of Schilling Tea makes so many more cups that it's really cheaper than the tea we've been using. And, anyway, I'm tired of that puckery taste. So now how about a cup of real fine tea?"

Thompson's Captor Entitled to Salary

That Fenton G. Thompson, police inspector who went to Mexico to trail Dr. James E. Thompson, accused physician, who fled there while under bail, is entitled to his salary from the city, even though expenses for the trip might have been arranged otherwise, is the opinion of the city attorney's office. The city auditor Harry G. Williams today, Williams, hearing that Thompson's bondsmen had arranged to pay his expenses, had asked whether this included his salary or whether the city was to pay this. The city attorney's office rules that as he was handling a city case, his salary is due from the city, the expenses of the trip being another arrangement Thompson's bondsmen paid these.

Oakland Athletic Club Loses to O.C. Polo Team

The Olympic club took the Oakland Athletic club down the line in the first game of the California Water Polo association schedule at Piedmont Baths last night by the score 2-1. The score was a 1-0 tie at the end of the first half, but the superior condition of the Winged "O" team stood them in good stead during the last period and they displayed good teamwork to shoot the goals that counted.

Brevick played a strong game on the side of the losers, while the work of Johnson, Resleure and Gardner featured for the Olympics. Line Johnson shot two goals as the fellow Shultz and Gardner each for the winners, while Walter Spencer made both tallies for the Oakland team.

The line-ups:

Oak Athletics	Pos.	Olympics
Brevick	forward	Shultz
Holtcamp	forward	Smith
Johnson	forward	Resleure
Grace	half	Johnson
Armstrong	full	Bond
O'Connell	goal	Collins

LEADERS IN CLASS "B" LEAGUE MEET SUNDAY

Time Not Yet Ripe to Pick Probable Winners in Tribune League

By EDDIE MURPHY

With next Sunday bringing the third set of games in the Class-A and B divisions of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE Midwinter League, it will soon be time that the boys will be doping the teams that will fight it out for the championship in each division. Three of the eight clubs in the Class-A League are still holding a perfect average, while in the Class-B branch only two clubs remain, they being the Orpheum Cigar Store and the Twenty-third Avenue Merchants. And by next Sunday night there will be only one club holding a perfect standing in the Class-B division unless a tie is played or games are postponed because of rain.

The Class B results will be closely watched next Sunday, as the Twenty-third Avenue Merchants and the Orpheum are scheduled to clash at Hawthorne Playgrounds in East Oakland. Already those teams have loomed up as the ones to beat for the pennant in the class B division.

Both those clubs won their first two games without much trouble, but there is no telling what the other fellows are likely to do in the next twelve games. The "Skiddoo Avenue" boys and the Orpheum have shown plenty of class in fielding for a lot of young fellows. In hitting both teams have shown up strong, but the Orpheum look to be the most dangerous of the whole outfit as they scored 34 runs in the first two games played. Fans from all around East Oakland will see the two clubs play Sunday to see the two clubs play.

The Orpheum have a strong following from the central section of Oakland, as many members of the Orpheum team are students and players at Oakland High. The Orpheum and the Twenty-third Avenue Merchants are the two teams to watch in the Class B league is the California Cotton Mills nine, under the management of F. L. Cotton. Cotton has a word of confidence in his boys and with an even break they should be right up with the leaders when the 11th of January rolls around.

The Peacock Autos and Elmhurst Merchants will battle to climb above the 300 mark in the percentage column. Each have won one game. The game will be played at Elmhurst, where the fans have turned out in big numbers to witness the first two games of the season. Bora the Peacocks and Oliveira for the Merchants look like the pitching selections.

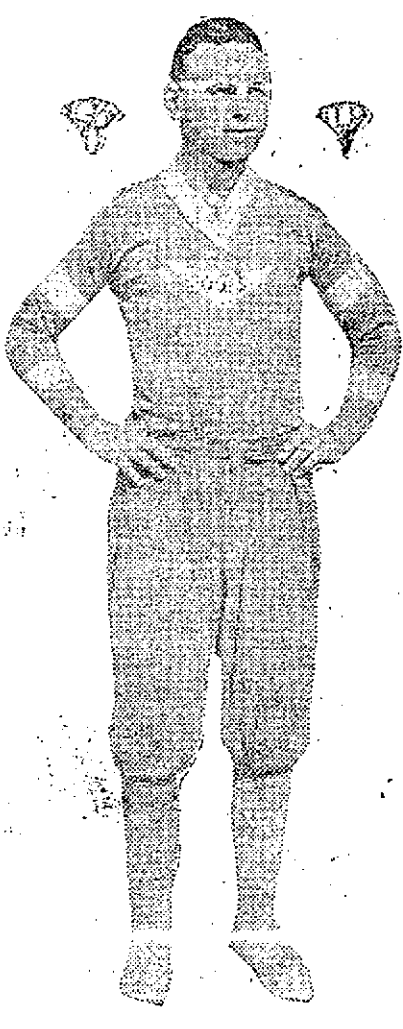

CLASS A MANAGERS HAVE TIME TO STRENGTHEN. With the managers in the class A league having until next Friday night to add players to their list, there is no use in the weightless pitcher for the Tribune team in that division. The C. L. Best Tractors, Hight-Diddlers and Crystal Laundry are going to add players to their list. The three teams have not yet played a game and they have shown in their first two starts that they are going to be hard to beat. The other clubs add some new men before the time limit for signing players is up.

Best Tractors at San Leandro next Sunday, and it remains to be seen if they can pull the cherry. The Hight-Diddlers are the team to watch. They have a fine set of ball players and may become dangerous after they break into the "win" column. The Natives are to play the Hight-Diddlers at Lincoln park. Anaheim, Frank Gray will take his Union Construction nine to Fruitvale Recreation park to play the J. J. Krieger Graves team. The Krieger Robinson in the box. Robinson was recognized as a high class hurler before the opening of the TRIBUNE league. He got off to a bad start in the first game of the TRIBUNE league and it is known that he is a much better pitcher than he showed in that game. Killian will hurl for the Kriegers.

The Judson Iron Works team will have to meet one of the league leaders as John Rodgers and Billy Good will lead the Crystal Laundry club to Judson park in Emeryville. McNally for the Crystal and Macchiodi for the Judson will do the pitching.

McGOWAN TROUBLE. KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21.—Kid McGowan, former boxer, was arraigned here yesterday on a charge of misappropriation of $800 belonging to a moving picture concern for which he was selling stock. He was released on $500 bond.

All Athletes to Get Attention In O. H. S. A. L.

HENRY OLIVA, one of the huskies of the Oakland High school rugby team, which was scheduled to meet Fremont High this afternoon at Bay View.

Today marks the opening of the Oakland High School Athletic League football season, with teams from the Oakland High meeting at Bay View playgrounds. Coaches from all the schools next week Friday, November 7, is the date for the second game and which will bring together Oakland and Fremont High. The following Friday will witness Fremont tackling Technion.

One good thing about the Oakland high schools having their own city league is that more attention will be given to the weightless pitcher in the past. The C. L. F. never gave attention to weight teams. The championship will be battled for this winter and the first game of that kind will take place at Bay View playgrounds on Friday, November 7. The following Friday will witness Fremont tackling Technion.

The pickup game will be played at around at Bay View on November 6 as two games are scheduled at that park for that date. The 110 and 120 pound teams of Fremont and Technion will hold games at that park the same date.

GOSSIP of GOLFERS

Geo. Turnbull, professional at the Del Monte First course, left this week for New York, where he will catch a steamer to pay a visit to his old home in Scotland. Turnbull is rated as one of the best professionals on the Pacific coast. He held the Pacific Northwest open championship in 1918 and has been prominent in all of the professional tournament play in California. Turnbull learned his golf in Scotland but came to this country 12 years ago and has been here ever since. He has become naturalized and is planning on returning to his adopted country inside of three or four months.

WRAPS, COATS STOLEN. Several women's wraps and men's coats were stolen from the cloak rooms of University of California last night, according to reports to-day. Local pawn shops are being searched for the stolen goods.

BERKELEY HIGH AND STANFORD FRESHMEN CLASH AT PALO ALTO

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 24.—Berkeley High school will meet the Stanford freshmen eleven tomorrow afternoon on the Stanford turf.

According to reports received on the "Farm," Berkeley has an unusually strong team this season. Coach Acker, however, is confident that the Stanford babes can carve out a victory for themselves against any team in the vicinity, short of the California frosh, about which he has not expressed himself as yet.

A Creglow of Palo Alto was elected last night to captain the Stanford freshman team for the remainder of the season. Creglow plays football on the team and is one of the strong points around which the team is built. Creglow learned the American game while at preparatory schools in Iowa, where he originally hailed from before deciding to remain permanently on the coast.

GEORGIA TECH AND PITTSBURG MEET IN BIG GAME TOMORROW

(By International News Service.) The biggest offering in the football world tomorrow will be the Georgia Tech-Pittsburg game at Pittsburg. While the defeat of the Panthers last Saturday by Syracuse has taken some of the interest away from tomorrow's clash, it still is the leading game of the day.

Princeton takes on Colgate and considerable doubt has been expressed as to whether the Tigers will be able to get by with a victory. Colgate rooters are going to Princeton in force and confidently believe the Hamilton eleven will twist the Tiger's tail.

Yale is to play Tufts. Harvard meets Virginia. Several Harvard stars will be out of the lineup owing to injuries.

Syracuse, now one of the biggest contenders for championship honors in the East, will meet Washington and Jefferson.

The army meets the conquerors of Old Bill, Boston College. The Navy plays Bucknell and Dartmouth clash at New York.

Polo Players Prepare for Busy Season

DEL MONTE, Oct. 23.—Polo teams from many eastern points as well as Canada, Great Britain, Mexico, Honolulu and possibly Australia will be attracted to California this coming winter and spring for one of the biggest seasons of the exciting sport on horseback. The Polo Association through the Pacific Coast sub-committee has just allotted dates to the Del Monte club for the following tournaments:

Annual tournament, February 1 to 10.

Annual tournament, March 23 to April 15.

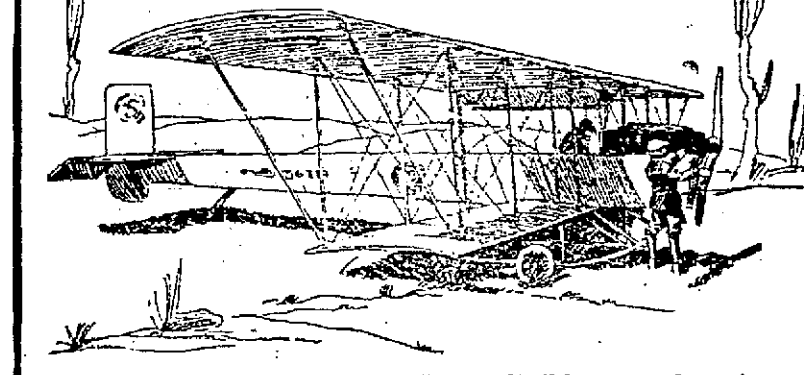

The Pacific coast sub-committee, composed of John B. Miller, chairman; Samuel F. Morse, Francis Carleton, Major Colin G. Ross and Harry Gordon Patten, is working to schedule a number of tournaments this spring and winter so that players from foreign and eastern points will have plenty of opportunity to follow their favorite pastime.

FULTON BEATS COCHILL. LONDON, Oct. 24.—Fred Fulton, American heavyweight, knocked out the Australian fighter, Gordon Cochill, in the third round of a scheduled twenty-round bout last night.
